EUROPE TO ASK U.S. TO SIT IN ON WAR DEBT GAME

Germans and British Urge World Parley.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 7.—Uncle Sam is about to be called on to sit in an international poker game with war debts on the table. This is the net result of the week-end love feast between the great statesman, Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius, and Britain's premier and foreign minister, who conferred at Chequers, country home of PR. JULIUS CURTIUS Prime Minister MacDonald.

The conferees have not said so in so many words, but in an official statement they declare that the ills from which Germany and Great Britain are suffering can only be resolved by international action and close cooperation of all governments concerned. One of the most concerned governments is the United States, which is creditor to all of Europe. And to the United States Europe is looking for "cooperation."

The Germans went to Chequers early Saturday and had a quiet day with Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, during which the purpose of their conference was discussed in a most informal manner.

Set Down to Work.

Today at lunch the visitors got down to actual business, for in addition to the prime minister and foreign secretary, there were present Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, who recently returned from the United States; William Graham, president of the Board of Trade; Sir Robert Vansittart, permanent undersecretary of the foreign office; Sir Eric Phipps, secretary to King George; the German ambassador and counselor of the German embassy, and, to lend a Hebrew touch, George Bernard Shaw.

Most of the guests arrived early and had quite a series of talks both between individuals and as a whole party, which were resumed after lunch and continued until the Germans had to return to London. It had been arranged that the Germans should tell the world's press on their return, but at the request of the British prime minister they agreed that a communique should be given out by the British foreign office and that no questions would be answered.

Communique Is Issued.

"This meeting was arranged several months ago as a means of establishing personal contacts," this communique said. "Opportunity at this informal meeting was taken for a friendly talk on the position in which the German reich and other industrial countries now find themselves. Special attention was paid by the German ministers to the difficulties existing in the relations of Germany and the need for stabilization. The British ministers laid stress, on their part, to the unfavorable character of the present depression and its special influence on their own country."

It is understood that the French and Italian governments have been fully informed of every move of this rapprochement between the British and Germans and are in full accord with the effort to scale down Berlin reparations if Uncle Sam can be persuaded to scale down his debt demands in proportion.

"Pay If Germany Does."

All European debtors have fully made up their minds that whatever they pay the United States they are going to get from Germany. If Germany cannot or will not pay them, they cannot or will not pay the Allied States, and the next move is to call a new international conference to discuss the "economic conditions in Europe and the ability to pay inter-Allied debts."

What the end only means one thing between the United States is the creditor. Despite this agreement on larger issues, the Germans are not entirely disposed to treat with the British and some others as friends.

French Express Pleasure.

PARIS, June 7.—(AP)—French official opinion today expressed itself as pleased with the tenor of the communique issued at the close of the week-end conference between the British and German ministers.

HUNT CAPONE'S HIDDEN RICHES FOR U. S. DEBT

Expect Gang Chief to Offer Cash.

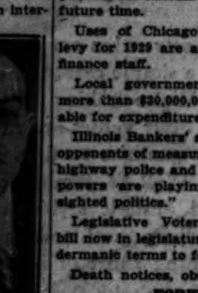
Agents of the United States government engaged yesterday in the game of treasure hunting—seeking the hoarding place of Al Capone, the master bootlegger and gangster of them all. Capone owes Uncle Sam at least $215,080 and there is no possibility of a debt cancellation, even though Al serves any part or all of the thirty-two prison sentence possible under the indictment, according to Robert E. Neely, acting collector of internal revenue.



ROBERT NEELY.

In the office of United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson there is the expectation that the wily gang leader will tender the government the $215,080 with the hope of thereby mitigating his sentence.

U. S. Can Prove Income.

The prosecuting branch of the government is certain it can establish to the satisfaction of judge and jury that Capone's income during the years 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929 was at least $1,038,654. Police and prohibition agents who know of Capone's activities say Capone's revenue is at least that much each year, but they can't prove it.

The difficulties of Mr. Neely as the designated person to do the collecting from Capone were emphasized during the two years of the compiling of evidence that more than $1,000,000 actually reached the Capone treasure chest—wherever that may be. The investigators learned that Al is a shifty person who kept no bank accounts in his own name, had no safety deposit boxes, owned nothing, and lived more luxuriously than the flashiest Coal Oil Johnnie.

Mr. Neely's first duty was explained to be that of putting a lien on all of Capone's property—real estate, automobiles, horses, bank accounts, jewelry or whatever else can be found. But where to find it or where to look was the week-end problem.

Property Not in His Name.

Capone may own many stills. He may own many breweries and even a few distilleries. He may own gambling houses, brothels, dog tracks and perhaps a bank or two. But not in his name, the intelligence unit reported to the collection service.

There was some question here yesterday over the title to the magnificent estate presided over by Capone at Miami Beach, Fla. Reports of the seizure of the Capone mansion by Vincent C. Giblin, attorney of Miami, who defended Al on several charges of vagrancy, perjury, and disorderly conduct when Florida was trying to expel him as an undesirable citizen, gave Mr. Neely food for thought. As far as was known here, that property was in Mrs. Capone's name. Giblin obtained a writ of attachment, claiming Capone owes him $50,000.

Start Removing Furnishings.

Then Giblin had deputy sheriffs start removal of Capone's furnishings. Furniture from the front and rear porches and an automobile had been confiscated when operations were temporarily halted in expectation of a communication from Capone.

Last night Chief Deputy Sheriff D. C. Coleman of Dade county, Florida, said work would be resumed this morning on the Capone home unless the gangster made some arrangements with his erstwhile lawyer. Giblin said he had made several requests to Capone for payment of his fees, but he would not say what his fees were and how much had been paid on them. Capone's legal expenses have been heavy during the last few years and costly litigation, civil and criminal, faces him.

May Be Capone Move.

Neely thought the Florida move might possibly have been a maneuver in Capone's interest. If the property can be shown to be Capone's the government will take it and not Giblin, Collector Neely asserted.

But aside from that, federal officials said, strong consideration is given to the possibility that Capone, like pirates of olden days, actually buried his loot six feet under ground and protected it with an application of the proverb "Dead men tell no tales."

OLD SOL COSTS U. S. $1,400,000 ANNUALLY; SUNBURN IS TO BLAME

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Hope that a realization of the great economic loss resulting from the sun tan fad might discourage the fashion was expressed today by Dr. Charles F. Pabst, chief dermatologist of Greenpoint hospital, Brooklyn, in his annual warning against the dangers of overexposure to the summer sun.

The doctor estimated that an annual loss of 200,000 working days was caused by illness from sunburn, in many cases "deliberately and intentionally acquired." Placing the money loss from this source at $1,400,000 a year, he predicted the waning of the fashion and with it a reduction in the number of cases of severe sunburn.

BEDOUIN PEARL FISHING FLEET OF 20 SHIPS SAILS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KOWEIT, Arabia, June 7.—The pearl fishing fleet left today with flags flying, drums beating and cymbals crashing. The fleet was composed of 20 ships under the command of an "admiral." The ships are high, and built similar to the ancient Spanish galleons of the 15th century with their three decks.

The divers include Bedouins, who are desert nomads in the winter and pearl fishers in the summer. They have left their women and children in camps outside the city walls. The divers receive no wages, but share in the season's catch.

12 Hot Bakers Shiver for 2 Chilly Hours

Twelve white clad bakers were busily working yesterday in the baking plant of the Maier-Roedel company at 2356 Winnemac avenue. Several stood before the hot ovens. Others were making dough. The room temperature was in the neighborhood of 90.

Along about 2:30 o'clock three strangers entered the room. They leveled revolvers at the baker dozen.

"This is a stickup," announced the strangers. As they spoke they mopped beads of perspiration from their foreheads. The room was hot. The bakers also perspired.

"Where's the dough?" demanded the intruders. One of the bakers pointed timidly to a mountainous pile of dry batter on the table and replied: "There."

Forced to Chilly Garage.

"You must have been reading Joe Miller's joke book," commented the bandit leader. "For that all of you follow me."

The bakers obeyed. They were led, still perspiring, into the adjoining garage. The cement floor was cold, wet, and smeared with oil. The temperature there was at least 30 degrees below that in the bakery. Hans Schneidereit, the foreman, shivered. He protested.

"We'll catch cold, get pneumonia, and maybe die," he remonstrated.

"And you'll catch lead and surely die if you move," growled back the gunman. His confederates departed for the bakery offices. The guard poked his revolver around menacingly. "Lie down," he ordered. The bakers, still shivering, obeyed, first spreading their white aprons on the floor as sheets.

Released After Two Hours.

Two hours later the other bandits returned. Their collars were wringing wet. The change of temperature caused them to shiver also. In a moment all three disappeared, and the twelve victims, stiff with cold, rose and called police. They also called Henry Maier, one of the bakery owners.

Maier seemed to perspire, too, when he heard the news. He looked into the safe. He discovered $300 missing. His collar wilted. He walked quickly to a secret compartment and peeked inside. He straightened his collar and breathed a sigh of relief.

"The robbers," he announced, "overlooked $3,000."

REPORT SHOWS 138,970 ACRES ARE PLANTED IN TREES BY 20,000 UNITS

Washington, D. C., June 7.—(AP)—Nearly 20,000 agencies—federal and state governments, schools and colleges, industrial and civic organizations, and individuals—planted 138,970 acres to forests last year, a gain of 24 per cent over 1929.

These plantings, figures compiled by the forest service show, brought the total of all lands reforested in the United States to date to 1,798,043 acres.

State forestry departments planted the biggest part in 1930, 41,038 acres. Industrial organizations reforested 30,230 acres; individuals, 28,475, and the federal government 21,678 in the national forests.

A $3,000,000 FIRE RUINS 7 BLOCKS IN NORFOLK, VA.

Norfolk, Va., June 8 [Monday].—(AP)—A three million dollar fire following an explosion on an oil barge swept the wharves and seven blocks in the business district last night, burning for seven hours before being checked early today.

The combined fire fighting forces of the Hampton roads area had the assistance of hundreds of sailors and marines in fighting the fire and maintaining order, and a steady rain which began to fall helped materially in bringing the flames under control.

Loss of stock and machinery of the American Peanut corporation alone was placed at $1,000,000. The Victoria hotel, with a 200 room capacity, was burned, but all occupants escaped. One woman guest was treated for shock and hysteria.

Eight persons, four of them firemen, were injured and taken to hospitals. More than twenty others received first aid.

MICROPHONE ON CRIB LISTENS TO BABY FOR MAMA

Philadelphia, Pa., June 7.—[Special.]—Nursery science has just received a local contribution. Dr. and Mrs. Leon Levy, occupying a duplex apartment in the Rittenhouse Plaza, found their living and dining rooms were so far from the nursery that they could not keep an adequate check on the feelings of their 2 month old son, Robert, during those periods when his nurse was absent.

As a result Dr. Levy installed an amplifying system with a horn in the hallway connected to a microphone over a crib in the nursery.

Now when young Robert cries his parents in other parts of the apartment hear the wails in magnified volume and take appropriate action, and when he coos they can rest at ease and save themselves unnecessary trips of investigation.

1ST NATIONAL GETS TWO FOREMAN INSTITUTIONS

Central Trust Co. Unites with Bank of Republic.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The most important series of bank mergers in Chicago's financial history took place last night. The First National bank and its affiliate, the First Union Trust and Savings bank, absorbed the Foreman-State National bank and its affiliate, the Foreman-State Trust and Savings bank, safeguarding deposits of nearly 200 million dollars in the Foreman banks. The Central Trust Company of Illinois and the National Bank of the Republic also announced their consolidation as the Central Republic Bank and Trust company.

These two great mergers represent an aggregate shifting of bank resources exceeding $1,250,000,000. The absorption of the Foreman banks by the First National-First Union Trust group represented a $900,000,000 transaction, while the consolidation of the Central Trust and the National Bank of the Republic is a $350,000,000 deal. The largest previous banking consolidation in the city's history was the merger of the Continental National bank and the Illinois Merchants Trust company in 1928, which gave Chicago its first billion dollar bank, the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company.

Merger After Long Conferences.

Both the First National-Foreman and the Central-Republic transactions were accomplished early this morning. The announcements followed a series of conferences that began Saturday afternoon and drew in all of Chicago's well known financiers.

It was 1:40 a. m. when the announcement was made that the First National-First Union Trust and the Foreman-State banks had reached an agreement. And it was a little more than an hour thereafter that the Central Trust Company of Illinois and the National Bank of the Republic announced that their oft-rumored merger had been accomplished.

The basis for the First National-First Union Trust and Foreman-State transaction was that the former would assume the $199,000,000 deposits of the latter, thereby safeguarding the depositors of the Foreman-State banks. It was agreed that the First National-First Union Trust will pay the Foreman-State stockholders a premium for all deposits retained for a certain period.

$12,550,000 Guarantees Deal.

On the other hand, the Foreman-State stockholders raised a guaranty fund of $2,550,000 and the Chicago Clearing House association provided an additional fund of $10,000,000 to guarantee the First National-First Union Trust group against loss in taking over the business of the Foreman-State banks.

Because of the fact that the transaction was accomplished so late at night, it was announced that the First National-First Union Trust group would not attempt to move the assets of the Foreman-State banks during the night but would conduct the business today, at least, in the Foreman-State banking quarters at La Salle and Washington streets.

The savings deposits of the Foreman-State Trust and Savings bank will be moved to the First Union Trust and Savings bank early this morning and the other accounts will be moved as soon as possible to the First National Bank building at Dearborn, Monroe, and Clark streets.

Second Largest Bank in City.

As the result of the transactions, the First National-First Union Trust group will become a close rival in resources to the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company. The First National-First Union Trust banks had combined resources of nearly $680,000,000, deposits of about $573,600,000, and total capital, surplus, and undivided profits of about $75,400,000 at the time of the last official statements on March 25. On the same date the Foreman-State banks had combined resources of nearly $242,600,000, deposits of almost $200,000,000, and combined capital, surplus, and undivided profits of about $30,500,000.

The Central Trust-National Bank of the Republic consolidation will make a worthy third institution. The Central Trust has total resources of nearly $170,000,000, deposits of almost $140,000,000, and capital stock, surplus, and undivided profits of around $23,500,000. The National Bank of the Republic has total resources of almost $132,600,000, deposits of nearly $130,000,000, and capital stock, surplus, and undivided profits of almost $22,000,000, including an investment in its affiliate, the Chicago Trust company, whose total resources are about $11,300,000.

Several hours after announcement of the downtown bank mergers, the directors of the Washington Park National bank, in which the Foreman-State banks held an interest, announced that it will not open today. The directors said plans for a reorganization are under way and asserted their belief that there will be no loss to depositors. The

STATEMENTS OF BANK CHIEFS IN BIG MERGERS

The following typewritten statement concerning the absorption of the Foreman banks by the First National bank and the First Union Trust and Savings bank was issued early this morning:

To the Public:

Under an arrangement mutually satisfactory to the directors of the Foreman-State National bank and Foreman-State Trust and Savings bank and the loop bank members of the Chicago Clearing House association, the First National bank of Chicago and the First Union Trust and Savings bank of Chicago have assumed the payment of the deposits and taken over the assets respectively of the Foreman-State National bank and Foreman-State Trust and Savings bank. GEORGE M. REYNOLDS,
Chairman Chicago Clearing House Committee.

Mr. Reynolds further stated that William C. Cummings, president of the Drovers National bank and the Drovers Trust and Savings bank, has acquired all of the stock of these banks, representing the small interest formerly owned by the Foreman family, and that Oscar G. Foreman and Harold E. Foreman have resigned as directors.

Mr. Traylor added that the Drovers banks, under the presidency of Mr. Cummings, have attained an enviable position and are recognized among the strongest banks in Chicago.

In connection with Mr. Reynolds' announcement Mr. Traylor, president of the First National group, stated that the arrangement was the result of negotiations which had been conducted over several days by the officers of the two groups with the entire approval of the directors of the several institutions and of the loop members of the Clearing House association.

Mr. Traylor stated that temporarily the business of the Foreman-State National bank will be conducted under the authority and direction of the First National bank at the former office of the Foreman banks at 33 North La Salle street. The savings business of the Foreman-State Trust and Savings bank will be immediately transferred to the office of the First Union Trust and Savings bank at Dearborn, Monroe, and Clark streets.

Mr. Traylor was especially complimentary in his reference to the splendid cooperation shown by officers and directors of the Foreman banks, particularly the Messrs. Oscar, Harold, and Gerhard Foreman, Walter W. Head, Albert D. Lasker, John D. Hertz, Philip K. Wrigley, W. W. Jacques, Charles A. McCulloch, Ralph Hines, Marvin Pool, John N. Dole, and Oscar Haugan. These men showed a loyalty to their organization, their depositors, and the community which should and will have the hearty approval of every citizen of Chicago.

For the present all officers and employes of the Foreman banks will be retained by the First National organization. Mr. Traylor expressed his gratitude also to the other loop banks of Chicago for their cooperation and assistance in working out the details of the entire transaction.

Philip R. Clarke, president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, gave out the statement concerning the Central-Republic merger. It was brief, and read:

"An agreement for a merger of the Central Trust Company of Illinois and the National Bank of the Republic and the Chicago Trust company, the merged bank to be known as Central Republic Bank and Trust company, has been reached by their authorized representatives, which will be consummated when the legal formalities have been complied with."

Mr. Clarke refused to discuss the names of officers of the new bank and said they would probably be made public today. The consolidation of the two banks has been under consideration for several months.

bank has total resources of $10,825,831 and deposits of $8,944,483.

The two loop banking deals were the outcome of two of the most strenuous days in Chicago financial history. On Saturday afternoon, after all the downtown banks had been closed to the public for the week-end, the officers and a large part of the clerical staffe of the banks involved in the mergers were kept on duty. Some of these forces were sent over to join the staffs of the Foreman-State banks in making an audit of their assets.

At the same time the senior officers of the banks began their conferences. These continued during Saturday evening and were resumed yesterday morning. They were participated in by all of the leading financiers of the city. It was a gathering of bankers such as has been seldom seen in the city's financial history. Naturally, the transaction was a matter of vast detail, with conferences held at different times in both the Foreman banks' building and in the other banks.

Turn to Merger Plan.

Early plans for the reorganization of the Foreman banks into a new bank, which were laid on Saturday, were reported to have run into difficulties yesterday and the conferees turned their efforts to working out a consolidation with one of the big loop banks.

With the broaching of the consolidation project, the real negotiations among the downtown banks started. All Saturday night detachments from the staffs of the First National-First Union Trust group and the Continental Illinois bank had been preparing an audit of the Foreman-State institutions. This audit was completed yesterday afternoon and the results were made known to the conference of bankers.

Leaders Plunge Into Conferences.

Then followed a protracted general session in the Foreman building and later individual conferences in the First National, Continental Illinois, and Central Trust buildings. These various conferences drew in such figures as George M. Reynolds, chairman of the Continental Illinois executive committee and dean of Chicago financiers; James B. McDougal, governor, and Eugene M. Stevens, chairman, of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank.

There also were Frederick H. Rawson and Melvin A. Traylor, respectively chairman and president of the First National bank; Arthur Reynolds and James R. Leavell, chairman and president of the Continental Illinois; State Auditor Oscar Nelson, and a host of junior officials of the different banks.

The main conference took a brief recess at 7 o'clock last evening, while the bankers went back to their own banks for hasty suppers of sandwiches and coffee and also to confer with prominent directors of their banks, who had been summoned to follow the negotiations.

Along toward 9 o'clock the different groups began assembling at the Foreman building again to resume the negotiations.

Conferees Closely Guarded.

The central point of these conferences was the directors' room on the thirty-eighth floor of the Foreman building. This room and, in fact, the whole bank building were closely guarded to assure privacy for the conferees. At midnight the report became current that the Foreman institutions would be absorbed by either the First National-First Union Trust group or the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company.

During the evening Gen. Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to England, who is now in Chicago on a visit, appeared at the Foreman Bank building, and this for a time gave rise to a rumor that the Foreman banks were to be merged with the Central Trust company. Gen. Dawes is honorary chairman of the Central Trust. He was accompanied by Joseph R. Otis and Philip R. Clarke, respectively chairman and president of the institution.

FRANCE HONORS DEAD WAR LEADERS, LAID BESIDE NAPOLEON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 7.—France today rendered final homage to sixteen world war chiefs whose bodies, during the last few weeks, under a new law, have been arriving under the dome of chapel of The Invalides beside those of Napoleon and Marshal Ferdinand Foch.

The ceremonies were attended by President Doumergue, members of his cabinet, army and navy officers, the diplomatic corps, and a crowd of spectators. The ceremonies opened with a service in the Protestant chapel for Admiral Gauchet and Gen. Nivelle. That chapel was packed with notables.

The service for the fourteen other war chiefs then began in the St. Louis chapel adjoining Napoleon's tomb. The oblong chapel, hung with the tattered battle flags of the Napoleonic wars and lighted by a thousand candles, was an unforgettable sight. In the first rows were the families of the chiefs who, besides Admiral Gauchet and Gen. Nivelle, were Marshal Maunoury, Vice Admiral Boué de Lapeyrère, Gens. Ferdinand de Langle de Cary, Maistre, Baucheron de Boissoudy, Humbert, Lanrezac, Mangin, De Maud'Huy, De Mitry, Roques, and Ruffey.

The chapel service was followed by a eulogy by War Minister Andre Maginot on the square before The Invalides before thousands of persons.

Police Release Suspect in Mueller Girl Slaying

Francis Richter, 30 years old, who was arrested several days ago as a suspect in the murder of 15 year old Edna Mueller in Hillside in 1927, was released at the detective bureau yesterday. Mrs. Rose Ward, 3002 Madison street, Bellwood, had reported Richter remarked on the evening of the murder that he "had to get out of town right away." Mrs. Ward's son, Edward, 27 years old, who was questioned about the same murder, was turned over to the Bellwood police, who accuse him of an attempted kidnaping.

The Interesting Reasons for Kimball's National Popularity

See our Wabash Avenue windows this week. They are of interest to Chicagoans and the hundreds of piano dealers attending the National Convention in session here.

The interesting first reason for seeing these windows, whether you are home owner or dealer, is found in the FIRST displays of new models in the Kimball line.

We prefer to leave to the pianos themselves the praise we might otherwise print. You know artistry of design; you know modernity; you know beauty. See these new models.

Then will you see, primarily, why Kimball is today nationally accepted by home owner, dealer, educator, professional musician. You will appreciate why there are more Kimballs in the home than any other single American make. (Comprising models to fit every budget.)

Note, too, how the story of music—and Kimball—is carried to the far corners of the land through the printed word. Then you will realize why this seventy-four year old business is as new in methods as the models themselves.

Come in, too, and HEAR these Kimballs. Then you will know the true, whole story of Kimball success.

Steady Rise Since 1863 Is Traced.

[illegible] 1863 the First National bank [illegible] been intimately connected with [illegible] of Chicago to greatness in [illegible] world of finance and commerce. [illegible] that year the bank was chartered [illegible] a capital of $100,000.

[illegible] city then was emerging from [illegible] frontier stage. Sound financial [illegible] were scarce. Currency [illegible] not backed by sound metal assets [illegible] the bonds of the government. [illegible] and indifferent bank notes [illegible] flooding about and increasing the [illegible] of a country involved in [illegible].

It opened its doors for busi[illegible] on July 1. The organizers were [illegible] Allen, Samuel M. Nickerson, [illegible] Rice, Samuel W. Allerton and [illegible] F. Hutchinson.

Capital Steadily Increases.

[illegible] September the capital had [illegible] increased to $205,000. There were [illegible] also in 1864, 1865, and 1866, [illegible] the capital had risen to $1,000,- [illegible] a large sum for those days. [illegible] throughout its history in the port- [illegible] war days the management made [illegible] of notable reputation for conserva- [illegible] and good practice, paying its div- [illegible] regularly except in 1869.

[illegible] rose, too. From the modest [illegible] of 1863, the amount entrusted [illegible] First National vaults by de- [illegible] had risen in 1869 to $2,300,- [illegible] in 1879 to $6,535,000, in 1889 to [illegible] than $20,000,000, in 1899 to more [illegible] $48,000,000, and in 1909 to [illegible].

[illegible] capital through all this period [illegible] been rising also, as had the sur- [illegible]. By 1869 the capital was $3,000,- [illegible] and the surplus $7,000,000. In [illegible] the stockholders of the First [illegible] organized the First Trust and [illegible] bank, which is still operated [illegible] an affiliate. It, too, prospered, and [illegible] capital and surplus grew regularly.

Other Affiliates Organized.

[illegible] affiliates were the First Trust [illegible] Stock Land bank and the Na- [illegible] Safe Deposit company.

[illegible] 1918 the First National had capi- [illegible] of $12,500,000 and a surplus of [illegible] same amount. The First Trust [illegible] former had capital and surplus [illegible] half as large as the parent in- [illegible]. The combined deposits of [illegible] two institutions were approxi- [illegible] $225,000,000 then.

[illegible] post-world war era continued [illegible] an era of prosperity for the First [illegible] and its controlled affiliates. [illegible] 1919 the Union Trust company was [illegible], the combination making the [illegible] National group at that time the [illegible] largest of American banks. The [illegible] of the merged institutions at [illegible] beginning of that year exceeded [illegible] a billion dollars.

[illegible] first building of the First Na- [illegible] bank was at Clark and Lake [illegible]. The second was at State and [illegible]. This building was occu- [illegible] until 1883, with an interim while [illegible] were being made after the fire [illegible]. Since 1883 the bank building [illegible] has been at Dearborn and Monroe [illegible], running west in Monroe to [illegible] street.

[illegible] six presidents have led the [illegible] National. The incumbent is [illegible] A. Traylor. Preceding him, in [illegible] order of their occupancy, were [illegible] Allen, Mr. Nickerson, Lyman J. [illegible], who was long later secretary of the [illegible]; James B. Forgan and Frank [illegible] Vreeland.

History of Central Trust and National of Republic

The merger early today of the Central Trust Company of Illinois and the National Bank of the Republic brought together institutions of long and honored service. It gives the combined institution total resources of more than $350,000,000 as of last March 25. Total deposits exceed $290,000,000.

CENTRAL TRUST CO.

The Central Trust Company of Illinois, one of the outstanding La Salle street institutions, has been known for years as "the Dawes bank" because of the leading part played in its affairs by Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President of the United States and now ambassador to Great Britain.

On his retirement from the Vice Presidency Mr. Dawes was expected to resume control of the trust company as chairman of the board, but his appointment as ambassador broke up this arrangement. He is now honorary chairman of the board. The present chairman is Joseph E. Otis.

The Central Trust company has resources of $170,000,009 and deposits of $140,000,000. It is capitalized at $12,000,000 and has a surplus of $11,000,000.

In January two years ago the Central Trust company merged with the Bank of America, the old Greenebaum bank. The president of the Central Trust company is Philip R. Clarke, who was most recently in the public eye when he directed the financial rescue of the city last year. William R. Dawes is a vice president.

BANK OF REPUBLIC

The National Bank of the Republic, located in the old Corn Exchange Bank building at the corner of Adams and La Salle streets, which it purchased in 1923 to meet its expanding needs, is known as one of the most prosperous of the loop banks. It has distributed a number of stock melons to its stockholders in the last eight years, and its period of expansion has been marked by its absorbtion of other financial institutions.

The bank in its last statement of March 25 showed resources of $182,581,192 and deposits of nearly $150,000,000. In addition its subsidiary, the Chicago Trust company, which merged with the Bank of the Republic two years ago, has resources of more than $11,000,000.

The chairman of the board of the Bank of the Republic is George Woodruff, who came to the bank as a vice president from Joliet in 1922 and who rose in power in the bank during the period of its greatest expansion. Mr. Woodruff was known as the youngest bank president in the country when, at the age of 26, he became president of the First National bank of Joliet. The president of the bank is John W. O'Leary.

FOREMAN BANK ENDS 69 YEARS CAREER IN CITY

Began in 1862 as Small Institution.

The financial ancestor of the Foreman-State National bank, which comes to the close of its career today, was a modest banking establishment in Clark street established in 1862 by Gerhard Foreman, who emigrated from Darmstadt, Germany. He had first settled in Delphi, Indiana, and had come to Chicago in about 1850.

The small banking house established by Mr. Foreman continued to do business until the great fire of 1871 burned the building which housed the bank. Undaunted, Mr. Foreman opened up a temporary bank at Wabash avenue and 8th street, and, following the fire, reestablished his bank near the present site of the Conway building.

Gerhard Foreman retired in 1885, transferring his interests to his sons, who conducted the business as a family partnership until 1897. In that year the institution was incorporated as a state bank under the name of the Foreman Brothers Banking company.

Son Takes Hold of Bank.

One of the sons who took hold when Gerhard Foreman stepped out was Oscar G. Foreman, and he has been prominent in the affairs of the bank ever since. He had started at the age of 17 to learn the banking business as a messenger for the old First National bank, and in 1883, two years before his father retired, had joined the Foreman banking house. He became vice president of the bank in 1897 and in 1915 he became its president.

In 1923 the institution was reorganized as the Foreman National bank and the Foreman Trust and Savings bank, the latter chartered by the state, and Oscar Foreman became chairman of the board of both banks. At the same time Harold E. Foreman, a third generation Foreman, became president of both banks. He had been associated with the house since 1910.

Takes Over Another Bank.

In 1929 came the combination of the Foreman banks with the State Bank of Chicago, which made the merged institution the third largest in Chicago. Harold Foreman was made chairman of the directorate; Walter W. Head, formerly of Omaha, president; Oscar H. Haugan, vice chairman, and Oscar G. Foreman, chairman of the executive committee of the new institution, which, like the older Foreman interests, was operated under two names—Foreman-State National bank and Foreman-State Trust and Savings bank.

The State Bank of Chicago had been established in 1889 by Helge A. Haugan and Jorn R. Lindgren, private bankers. It was incorporated as a state bank in 1891 and by the time of the merger with the Foreman institution its deposits had grown to $64,000,000. When the consolidation was agreed to in July of 1929 the stocks of both banks were selling at more than $1,200 a share. In December of the same year the physical assets of the banks were merged in the banking rooms at 33 North La Salle street.

POPE FORMS NEW CHURCH CLUBS TO FOIL MUSSOLINI

Vatican More Hopeful of Peace Settlement.

ROME, June 7.—(AP)—A possible solution of the grave conflict between the Catholic church and the Italian state was seen in some quarters here today in the creation of new Catholic clubs, a method now being tried in several dioceses of northern Italy.

The location of these dioceses was temporarily withheld by the Vatican today, but it was learned that the new organizations are to be called "congregations" and are to be more directly connected with the church than were the dissolved Catholic clubs.

This was only one of several indications that caused both the Vatican and the government today to present a decidedly more optimistic atmosphere than at any time since the storm broke ten days ago.

Full Settlement Not in Sight.

A complete settlement of the difficulties was admitted not to be in sight yet, however.

There were persons on both sides of the contraversy who said it probably would be impossible to find an entirely satisfactory solution soon, "if ever." Premier Mussolini and Pope Pius, it was said, are too far apart on the question of the education of youth and on other points to make any complete settlement an easy matter.

The present hope of both sides seems to be to find a temporary solution which will be humiliating to neither and workable for a number of months during which serious efforts could be made to effect a permanent settlement of the questions which have arisen since the concordat was signed.

Raises a Technical Question.

A reorganization of the dissolved clubs is forbidden by law, but Vatican observers said that the formation of "congregations" was authorized and that Premier Mussolini might overlook any technical objections since it would be difficult for him to find a better solution.

Sharply contrasting with this spirit of hope was the suspension of all new church work which, it was understood, the pope had ordered. This order would be effective in Vatican city and throughout Italy where his holiness had been encouraging the spending of many millions and where the erection of nearly 2,000 other buildings was intended soon.

The pontiff discussed this great building program with Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago when the latter visited the Vatican recently. The pope announced he believed building to be one of the best remedies for world unemployment, which also is severe in Italy and, through Cardinal Mundelein, encouraged similar work throughout the Catholic world.

Work, which already has been begun, it was said, will be completed but the plans may be abbreviated.

Pope Works on Problem.

The present feeling of optimism does not mean that the crisis is over. It was apparent, however, that a good deal has been done toward solution.

Pope Pius told 200 little boys and girls to whom he gave their first communion today to "tell your parents that the pope is well, but that he is afflicted with tribulations. Ask them to pray for the accomplishment of our wishes."

The pontiff gave his entire day today to a consideration of the problem. For the first time in many months he canceled his daily automobile ride in the Vatican City grounds. He remained in his study nearly the whole day, conferring with department officials. He had a long talk with Secretary of State Cardinal Pacelli this morning and later with Papal Nuncio Borgoulni-Duca.

Afterward Cardinal Pacelli discussed the situation with Papal Nuncio Pizzardo, secretary of state for extraordinary affairs, and with the pope's vicar general, Cardinal Marchetti Salvaggiani. During the afternoon and evening the pope studied the problem alone.

It was suggested in some quarters that the government might have finally answered, through secret negotiators, the two notes of protest transmitted from the Vatican, both of which remained publicly unanswered, and that this might have been the reason for the new spirit of hopefulness apparent in Vatican quarters.

The Italian broadcast last night in which priests were charged with "black ingratitude" was not published in the newspapers today and caused no comment from the Vatican.

Municipal Employes Unveil Portrait of Emmons Alden

Scores of municipal employés gathered last night at the New England Congregational church, 19 West Delaware place, for the unveiling of a portrait of Emmons J. Alden, former president of the Municipal Employés society. The painting was unveiled by by Little Priscilla Alden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Alden and a direct descendant of the John and Priscilla Alden of colonial days.

VATICAN INSISTS ITS LITHUANIA ENVOY WAS NOT BANISHED

VATICAN CITY, June 7.—(AP)—The reported "expulsion" of Archbishop Bartholoni, papal nuncio to Lithuania, from that country was described as inaccurate at the Vatican today. It was said that he was "invited to leave the country" and at the same time was recalled by the Vatican.

Church officials insist that international law requires that Lithuanian authorities answer the Vatican's demand for reasons why Bartholoni is termed persona non grata.

A dispatch from Kaunas yesterday said that the archbishop had been required to leave the country within 24 hours or be removed forcibly. He was said to have left after having incurred the disfavor of the government for alleged interference in cultural affairs.

Five Year Old Boy Killed by Fall from Bicycle

Arthur Sargent, 5 years old, of 1823 South 47th court, Cicero, died last night in St. Anne's hospital of injuries suffered June 3 when he fell off a moving bicycle. The boy was sitting in a carrier attached to the vehicle, which was being propelled by his brother, John, 9 years old. The carrier broke and Arthur fell on his head.

STEP UP CANAL FLOW TO GUARD WATER SUPPLY

Exceed Limit of Decree to Protect City's Health.

A rainfall of 2.10 inches in the 48 hour period ending at 8 p. m. last night reduced the deficiency in Chicago's precipitation to .02 of an inch and dispelled the last fears of a drought. The abundant rainfall of the last two weeks has been a boon to farmers as well as benefiting lawns and gardens in the metropolitan district. In his forecast, the weather man, C. A. Donnel, predicted fair and slightly warmer weather today.

But the rain which benefited truck farmers and others brought a problem to the sanitary district.

Diversion Is Increased.

The intermittent showers, which deposited 1.61 inches of rain on Saturday, swelled the Chicago river to a point where the current, with its sludge of sewage, would have been forced back into the lake, polluting the city's drinking supply, except for the vigilance of the sanitary district, it was learned.

E. J. Kelly, chief engineer of the district, who was one of the party aboard the yacht Mispah, formally opening work on the new outer drive bridge, noticed a peculiar surging of the water about the river mouth. Fearing the surge meant a reversal of the river current, Mr. Kelly telephoned the control station of the sanitary district at Lockport.

The engineer there informed his chief the locks had already been opened to permit a flow of 11,000 cubic feet per second of water, a volume nearly double the regular flow of 6,500 feet. Taking no chances, Mr. Kelly ordered the flow increase to 12,000 feet.

Compensate for Increase.

Tables supplied by the sanitary district showed an extra volume of flow has been maintained since 2:30 a. m. Saturday, soon after the first showers swelled the river. At that hour the flow was fixed at 9,000 cubic feet.

By 3:30 a. m., on advice from the load dispatcher, the engineer maintaining a 24 hour a day watch on the river flow, the volume was stepped up to 10,000 feet.

Mr. Kelly's order for a 12,000 foot flow came through about 1 p. m., and was maintained until 5:45 p. m. Thereupon the flow was lowered to 11,000 feet, which volume was held until midnight. Throughout yesterday afternoon the flow was held at 9,585 feet.

"These figures are significant," Mr. Kelly pointed out, "when one remembers that the United States Supreme court decree in the sanitary district case limited the district to a daily withdrawal of 6,500 cubic feet per second, specifying that any volume above that amount must be rectified at a later time.

"I would not venture to criticize the decree," he concluded. "But many of us wish the Supreme court might alter it to the extent of permitting us to use the extra volume in rainy weather without having to pay a future penalty, when our only purpose is to safeguard the city's drinking supply."

GIRL REMEMBERS FACE; SUSPECT IN THEFT IS JAILED

Miss May Hannon's memory for faces landed John Fitzpatrick, 35 years old, in the lockup of the Des Plaines street station last night.

On April 16 Miss Hannon, who is a stenographer and lives at 2867 Palmer street, was standing on the elevated platform at Van Buren and Halsted streets. She saw a man run towards the stairway. Later she learned that the man had stolen the wallet containing $300 in cash and a $250 check from William Owen, 10407 South Irving avenue, an architect.

Last night Miss Hannon was standing on the same "L" platform. She saw a man approach. She followed him down the stairs, and in Halsted street to Monroe street, where she beckoned to Detectives Benjamin Benson and Pat Dillon. On her request they arrested the man. He was Fitzpatrick. Miss Hannon identified him as the man who fled with Owen's wallet.

LABOR FEDERATION BACKS TEACHERS IN ISSUES WITH BOARD

Resolutions were adopted by the Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday proffering that body's support to the Chicago school teachers in their dealings with the board of education. The teachers oppose the proposed plan approved by President Meyers of the school board to discontinue the teachers' automatic pay increases and also oppose a proposal that their salaries be paid in tax warrants or other scrip. Miss Agnes Clohesy, president of the Elementary Teachers union, presented the resolutions.

Watch Service Policeman Kills Drug Store Robber

An unidentified robber who had broken into the drug store of L. M. Arnopol, 741 South Dearborn street, was shot and killed by an A. D. T. policeman as he tried to escape. When the burglar alarm rang in the central offices of the A. D. T., Lyman Hildebrant and Neil Rowe were sent to the scene. Hildebrant went to the rear of the store and Rowe to the front. Hildebrant heard his partner call for help and he hurried to the front. Rowe had seized the robber as he dashed from the store but was unable to hold him, and he was fleeing up the street as Hildebrant appeared and fired two shots, both bullets striking the fugitive in the head. He dropped dead.

Stumbles at Lake's Edge, Falls In and Is Drowned

A stumble cost the life last night of Albert Maske, 35 years old, 1934 Howe street, a paper cutter. He and his friend, Frank Boecke, 1912 Howe street, were walking along the lake front at the foot of Montrose avenue when he tripped and fell into the water. Before help could reach him he drowned. The body was recovered.

FARM BOARD AID TO DAIRYMEN ITS ONE BRIGHT SPOT

Eager to Switch Talk from Wheat and Cotton.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Being composed of human beings, the federal farm board is willing to state the facts about its activities in direct proportion to their success. Its conversation about wheat and cotton consists chiefly of large and rather indefinite generalities; it talks more freely about wool. But when it comes to dairy cooperatives it begins to get loquacious.

W. H. SCHILLING, Bloom & Swine Photo.]

The board's activities in extending aid both advisory and financial, to the cooperative movement among the farmers and the producers of dairy products constitute the bright star in the firmament that has sometimes seemed to twinkle and that has sometimes failed to gleam too brightly with the gait of the taxpayers that has run into its making.

Schilling Is Enthusiastic.

William F. Schilling, himself a farmer with a hundred head of dairy cows, in what is said to be the biggest barn in Minnesota, is the board member for dairy and poultry commodities, and it is his enthusiastic endeavors that principally are responsible for what the board has done in this direction.

More than 40 per cent of the fluid milk used by urban consumers is handled by cooperatives and a third of the butter and a quarter of the cheese produced in this country are processed and marketed by cooperatives.

With the help of the farm board, 26 great regional cooperatives have joined into a unified marketing program, which tends to eliminate competition and waste and insures the producers greater influence in the market.

Loans to 38 Dairy Coöps.

For example, the Land O' Lakes creameries of Minneapolis handle all dairy products shipped east of the Rockies by the Challenge Cream and Butter association of Los Angeles and San Francisco, the United Dairymen's association of Seattle and the interior associated creameries of Portland. And conversely the Challenge and the United handle Land O' Lakes products shipped west.

At the present time the farm board has loans outstanding to 25 dairy cooperatives and six poultry cooperatives totaling $9,462,543.03. That is, $18,955,780.49 was committed for these loans last year. Of that amount $13,611,006.37 actually was advanced, and of the total advanced, $4,148,463.84 has been repaid.

Headquarters in Chicago.

In addition, there is the latest of the six big regionals, the Dairy and Poultry Cooperatives, Inc., which set up last March with headquarters in Chicago. This association will handle the sales of cooperatives located in sixteen states and made up of some 100,000 producers.

There is the board's word for it, answering complaints about private concerns getting federal help, that all these are true cooperatives within the definition of the Capper-Volstead act.

To return to the dairy cooperatives, one of the biggest and certainly one of the most successful is the Land o'Lakes of Minnesota, which handles annually more than 100 million pounds of butter, and represents more than 140,000 producers. A commitment of $2,000,000 was made to Land o'Lakes last year of which approximately $1,800,000 was advanced. The loan already has been repaid and, according to Mr. Schilling, it will be repeated this year.

At the time the farm board was organized Land o'Lakes had about 460 creameries marketing butter through it. It now has about 535 creameries and besides handles a considerable amount of poultry and eggs. After paying all charges last year, including the repayment of the board's loan with interest it cleared $57,000.

By holding back some 6,800,000 pounds of butter to feed into the market later at judicious intervals, Land o'Lakes not only held up butter prices with profit to its own members but with a profit to all butter producers it is estimated of some 25 millions.

It is here that there comes into view the other side of the picture without which a consideration of the board's assistance to the dairy industry would not be complete. Critics have asked certain rather revelant questions:

Is the success of the board and the profit of the cooperatives going to be taken out of the consumer's hide—the consumer furnishing the largest proportion of the taxes which make up the board's billion dollar revolving fund?

Eliminate Competition?

How far are cooperative combines to be allowed to go in eliminating competition before they cross a line that has been well defined by law and the courts in the conduct of other business endeavors?

If the Land o'Lakes, for example, was a going concern before the creation of the farm board, with the banks ready to lend the money the board now lends, would it not have been fairer to have withheld federal aid and allowed the dairy industry to work out its own destiny?

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHEMNITZ, Germany, June 7.—Two were killed and twenty injured today when Adolph Hitler, his aide, Dr. Paul Goebbels, and Prince August Wilhelm of Hohenzollern headed a demonstration of 35,000 Fascisti in this intensely communistic town. The Fascisti were marching down the street when they were attacked from a book shop, where the communists had barricaded themselves behind a wall of stones. Their shots killed two Fascisti, whose comrades then stormed the shop.

Dry agents early yesterday raided the Schubert house, 1925 North Halsted street, for eighteen years known as a gay spot on the north side, and closed it. More than 400 diners crowded the tables at the time. The operatives confiscated eleven barrels of beer, seven five-gallon crocks of wine, and a small quantity of whisky. Gustave Solemann, the owner; Ernest Heiner, the manager, and Steve Gil and John Wisch, bartenders, were arrested. They will appear today before Commissioner Walker.

WHY CHICAGO'S 1929 TAX LEVY IS $223,718,648

Council Staff Analyzes Expenditures.

The city council finance committee's staff has prepared an analysis of the 1929 taxes levied on Chicago property. This analysis classifies the levy into seven groups which indicate to the taxpayer generally for what purposes he was required to contribute.

The analysis relates to $223,718,648 of the city's total levy of $229,497,959. The taxes for the more than a dozen small park districts and the old township governments are omitted in the survey.

The tabulation which sets forth the tax levy analysis is printed on this page. It shows that 37.5 per cent of the $223,718,648 taxes levied is for general corporate purposes, in the opinion of the finance committee staff; 27.5 per cent goes for education and 8.6 per cent more is for school and library buildings and sites.

20.05 Per Cent for Bonds.

Bonds and interest eat up 20.5 per cent of the levy. With minor exceptions, bond cash is spent for permanent improvements. Of the $223,000,000 levied $45,583,316 is to pay bonds and interest and the amount to be paid on the 1930 tax bill will probably be larger because more bonds have been issued than retired in the last year.

The tax levy for pensions has risen to $7,865,427, or 3.5 per cent of the total. This amount will probably be higher in the 1930 tax bills, because several of the pension fund trustees are asking higher tax rates of the present legislature. The firemen's pension fund appears to be in the worst shape. It has been compelled for two years to borrow money to make payments of pensions.

Other Funds Listed.

The county's highway fund, other than bond money used for roads, constitutes 1.5 per cent of the taxes levied.

The remaining classification in the finance committee's tabulation is for taxes levied for relief of blind and for mothers' pensions. This totals $1,303,099.

The analysis shows that $14,402,543 of Chicago's tax levy it allotted to the state, of which $5,541,748 is to be used by the Springfield government for general corporate purposes.

At present there is a difference between taxes levied on property and taxes paid. Only about 60 per cent of the 1929 taxes have been paid so far. The table purports to show only how the taxes will be spent, if and when paid.

FRANK M'ERLANE IS VIOLENT AT WEEKLY SHOWUP

Frank McErlane, veteran gang leader in police custody as a result of drinking his own liquor, was paraded before a large audience at the police showup in the detective bureau yesterday. A change of clothes failed to hide evidences of the debauch which landed him in a bureau cell for two days.

McErlane was arrested by a police squad early Saturday morning at 78th and Crandon avenue when he was blazing away with an automatic shotgun. To the police he explained: "They were trying to get me, but I drove them off." Further evidence of a disordered mind was given when the gangster's sister, Mrs. Margaret Marvis, 7754 Crandon avenue, said McErlane forced his way into her home Friday night and knocked her down.

At the showup McErlane lunged at photographers, but was checked by Lieut Walter Healy. Capt. Patrick McCauley of the Grand Crossing station said he will attempt to have the gangster taken to the psychopathic hospital. McErlane is to be charged with carrying concealed weapons.

OFFICIALS FACE $30,000,000 CUT IN CASH INCOME

Drastic Retrenchment Is Called Imperative.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The local governments may be compelled to reduce their 1931 expenditures by [illegible] more than $30,000,000. The situation is such that the biggest economy appears likely to start immediately after July 1. The officials in charge of some of the [illegible] spending bodies have not given [illegible] a definite refusal to [illegible] in expense, and have no thought now of attempting such a cut. But, briefly, the situation is this:

Each of the local governments has practically exhausted its treasury. It has no cash on which to continue operations. To get money, each must borrow. With perhaps two exceptions, all of these governments must get money by selling tax anticipation warrants. The law permits them to issue tax warrants up to 75 per cent of the tax levies.

Two Agree on 60 Per Cent Limit.

Two of the governments, in their calls for cash, have agreed not to issue more than 60 per cent of their tax levies in tax warrants. These are the sanitary district, under Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of its finance committee, and Lincoln park board of which Warren Wright is president.

"Does that mean that the banks will lend to other local governments only 60 per cent of their tax levies?" a banker was asked yesterday.

"I cannot speak for all the banks," he replied, "but in my opinion it does not mean that the banks will lend 60 per cent. It means they will not lend more than 60 per cent—if the general assembly will straighten out its financial tangles so far as legislation will do it—because 60 per cent is about the proportion of the 1929 taxes collected so far. Do not represent that the banks will lend 60 per cent. I have not heard of any bank willing to lend 90 per cent under present conditions of spending and tax uncertainty."

Taxes Levy Is 229 Millions.

The 1929 levy of taxes on Chicago property, which is the one on which local governments can legally issue tax anticipation warrants, totals $229,-[illegible].

If the governments can borrow only 60 per cent instead of 75 per cent of the taxes levy, it means a cut of 15 per cent in the income available for expenses. Fifteen per cent of $229,-[illegible] $34,434,000. But in the 1929 levy is $10,270,858 of taxes on property which has been forfeited to the state. Little, if any, of those taxes will be paid, so that the current tax levy is $219,000,000. A 15 per cent cut of that sum means a reduction of $33,000,000 in money for expenses.

How Cut Is Distributed.

The proportion which each of the local governments would have to save, based upon the share of each in the total tax bill, may be roughly summarized in money as follows:

Government.	Cut in Expense.
City, library, pensions, etc.	$19,457,000
Public schools, playgrounds	10,781,000
Park systems	3,323,000
Sanitary district	2,918,000
County, forest preserves	2,817,000
Total savings	$30,296,000

The state government, which gets about 6¼ per cent of the taxes collected on Chicago, is omitted in the above table because its tax income is not involved.

A cut of $30,296,000 in the local government expense in 1931 is even more severe in practice than the above figures indicate. A 15 per cent cut throughout the year, such as Trustee Woodhull of the sanitary district says that organization has effected, would not cut the service so much as attempting to save the same amount in the last half of the year.

Some of the local governments have not yet trimmed their sails in a serious way, although practically all of the budgets have been made on the basis of borrowing 75 per cent of the tax levy.

Heavy Fixed Overhead.

In addition the bond and interest obligations are fixed items which cannot be reduced, unless there is a bond default, such as the county government permitted to the extent of $1,968,400 last week.

The tax levies for bonds and interest of the local governments for the tax year of 1929 total $42,935,592. During the remainder of this year the bond interest obligations to be paid total $20,643,014. Unless there is a default a 15 per cent saving cannot be made on that amount, and the saving will have to be made by making a heavier cut in other expenses.

There may be other expenses which officials will consider so essential that no reduction can be made, and the savings in other departments will have to be accordingly increased.

Twice in interviews last week Mayor Cermak said he was ready to do his share in cutting expenses. At the time his statement did not appear to have specific significance, but it was said yesterday that he had been apprised of the offers of Lincoln park and drainage boards in their bids to get cash upon which to operate. It was also reported that President Wright of the Lincoln park board had told Gov. Emmerson of the board's offered limitation of 60 per cent on tax anticipation warrants. The mayor and the governor will therefore have the same information on tax warrants when they confer at their meeting on the tax situation. Mayor Cermak is leaving for Springfield tonight with the expectation of seeing the governor tomorrow.

FIFTY REPORTED SLAIN IN BREAD RIOTS IN MOSCOW

U. S. Engineers Tell of Week of Disorders.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, June 7.—Two American engineers, arriving here today from Moscow to replenish wardrobes stolen from their hotel rooms, reported that Moscow mounted police resorted to methods of the czarist regime to disperse strikers and bread rioters, killing at least 50 and wounding scores during a week of disorders just ended. The police, they said, charged into crowds wielding knouts and firing machine guns.

Officials at the Latvian foreign office today denied receiving any reports of bloodshed at Moscow, although they admitted that reports of strikes and demonstrations, which are speedily repressed, have been received here. The diplomatic courier of another Baltic country, arriving from Russia today, declared that Moscow is filled with stories of a massacre, which was followed by large deportations of workers to distant industrial projects.

Soviet Press Silent.

Others travelers from Moscow said that the American colony there is buzzing with rumors of riots.

Thus far the soviet press has not printed a line about any disturbances during the past week, although several papers admit that the present shortage of food will continue for some months.

The two engineers stated that unrest over the shortage of bread and food rations has been gaining daily during the past two weeks, resulting in large numbers of workers pouring out of Moscow into outlying industrial districts where food is reported to be more plentiful. Promises by Food Commissar Mikojan to open additional bread shops failed to pacify the public, the Americans added, and with the price of bread soaring to $1.25 per pound with no prospect of an increase in the supply, the people ran wild on the streets, attacking government store houses.

The most serious disorder, according to the engineers, occurred last Tuesday at the Iron Tower market when a force of police and Gaypayou agents dashed into a crowd of several thousand, who were buying bread illegally from private bakers. The mob resisted the police who opened fire, killing 15 and wounding many others, they said. The rioting lasted less than an hour, and hundreds were arrested and taken to Butkura and other prisons pending deportation to exile camps.

Riot Over Back Pay.

Other travelers arriving here report that another cause of the rioting has been the failure of industrial undertakings to pay back wages. Factory managers are said to be blaming the state banks for refusing to grant credit under their new plan to deflate the ruble. In some large factories in the Moscow district, it is reported, no wages have been paid for three weeks.

The food shortage is also revealed by soviet exports which are passing through the Baltic countries. Last year these consisted chiefly of agricultural products, but now they are manufactured, partially manufactured, or raw products.

According to the Leningrad Pravda, the union of militant atheists—Bezboshniki—has demanded that the city demolish St. Isaac's cathedral, the third largest in the world, because a commission of engineers reported that $500,000 would be needed immediately to repair the structure, which was recently converted into an anti-religious museum.

MISSISSIPPI HIGHEST SINCE JULY, 1930, AT QUINCY AND HANNIBAL

Quincy, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—The Mississippi river today reached its highest stage here since July, 1930. Eight and two-tenths feet was recorded. Here and at Hannibal, Mo., the water has risen five and one-tenths feet since yesterday morning. This sudden rise is due to excessive rains along the Des Moines river and north of Quincy.

Nearly a half million dollars will be expended by the government on levees in the Indian Grave district and south Quincy drainage district, where the levees broke in the floods of two years ago. Contracts for the work will be let this month.

YOUTH WOUNDS BROTHER-IN-LAW DURING QUARREL

Arthur Ewing, 26 years old, 423 South Oakley boulevard, shot and seriously wounded his brother-in-law, George La Chapelle, about the same age, after a drinking party in the latter's home at 813 South Albany avenue early yesterday.

For several months Ewing had been out of work and his wife, Genevieve, had gone to live with her sister, Mrs. La Chappelle. He called Saturday evening and was cordially received. But after considerable drinking Ewing and La Chappelle left their wives and went into a room together. There, according to Mrs. La Chappelle, the brother-in-law accused her husband of being too attentive to Mrs. Ewing, and shot him in the ensuing quarrel.

A bullet struck La Chappelle in the abdomen. Ewing fled. The women tried to revive La Chappelle, but called the police after several hours. The wounded man was taken to the county hospital.

2 Killed as Plane Dives Into San Francisco Bay

Oakland, Cal., June 7.—(AP)—Mitchell Miscovich, 31, pilot of San Leandro, and Maurice Sousa, 24, Oakland automobile mechanic, were killed when their airplane plunged into nine feet of water in San Francisco bay today.

PALESTINE JEWS RIOT AGAINST SABBATH GAMES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, June 7.—Three thousand Jews, belonging to the extreme orthodox Jewish party "Agudath Israel," took part in demonstrations against football on the Jewish sabbath yesterday by chanting psalms and prayers before a football field where a game between Jewish teams was in progress. Members of the British police force surrounded the demonstrators, many of whom had invaded the grounds and attacked the players. Police reinforcements were finally called out to disperse the demonstrators. Sixteen Jews were injured and 27 arrested. The orthodox Jewish agitation against sabbath football in Jerusalem has been of long stading.

FORGETS TO TAKE THE CARTRIDGES FROM HIS PISTOL

Patrick Donohue, 35 years old, 7139 Emerald avenue, is a night watchman. It had always been his custom to remove the cartridges from his pistol when he returned home at dawn to go to sleep.

Yesterday he slept through the morning hours and most of the afternoon as usual. Shortly before 6 p. m. he arose, ate his breakfast, and prepared to leave for work. Mrs. Donohue picked up the pistol and pointed it at him.

"I'm a holdup girl," she said playfully.

She snapped the trigger. Donohue had forgotten to take out the cartridges. A bullet struck him in the neck.

HEAD OF CHINA GOES TO FRONT TO BATTLE REDS

Chiang Pledges to Retire if He Wins War.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 7.—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Nationalist government, will start for the front tonight in personal command of an army which he will hurl against insurgents and communist bandits in Kiangsi and Hunan provinces of south China.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK.
[Acme Photo.]

Gen. Chiang today declared that the communist bandit menace was the most serious problem facing the Chinese people, and was largely responsible for the Canton revolution.

Plans to Retire if He Wins.

"I am going to the front to assume personal direction of the troops," he continued. "In the event that I am successful, I will divest myself of all military power and return to my farm in Chekiang province. If I am not successful I will die on the battlefield."

Gen. Chiang then issued a long appeal to his fellow officers of the Nationalist army, beseeching them to bend their full energies to the suppression of communism. The president also reassured the military leaders that the government did not intend to further disband its troops, stating that the nation was in need of all soldiers available in order to defend the country's borders after domestic peace had been assured.

Gen. Chiang stated that the troops in the southern part of China, who were responsible for the present rebellion, would be reinstated in the event that they ceased to assist the reactionaries in Canton, who were aiding the communist bandits. The general charged the Canton insurgents with making tools of the military forces regarding the recent Cantonese charges against himself that he was trying to become the military dictator.

Pledges to Wipe Out Reds.

"They have accused me of abusing my power, the Nanking president declared. "They have slandered me as a military dictator and they have heaped up all sorts of accusations. I have survived hundreds of battles and I have experienced vast hardships. Hence if I obeyed my selfish interests I would retire.

"I consider service in completing our revolution a duty rather than a privilege, hence I am not falling a dupe to the reactionaries, and I intend to continue service until communism is eradicated, following which I will retire, but retirement now would mean abandoning my responsibilities and being unfair to my military comrades. Hence I am leaving for the front."

Youth Wrecks Stolen Car and Flees; Shot by Police

Robert Hanisch, 18 years old, 3045 West Jackson boulevard, was shot and seriously wounded by Policeman Harry Miller last night as he attempted to escape after wrecking a stolen automobile against a post at 16th street and Hamlin avenue. The bullet struck the youth in the right shoulder. Miller had pursued him from Ogden and Crawford avenues, where he had struck another post.

NAUTILUS IS 900 MILES OUT ON ITS DASH TO POLE

Boston, Mass., June 7.—(AP)—The submarine Nautilus, in which Sir Hubert Wilkins and a group of scientists plan an underice expedition to the north pole, today was nearing the grand banks on its trip to England.

At 8 a. m. today the coast guard cutter Ponchartrain, escorting the Nautilus as far as the grand banks, reported the submarine was 900 miles northeast of Boston at a point just south of Sable Island.

The Nautilus left Provincetown, Mass., on June 4, after surface tests over the navy's measured course.

He was shot with his own rifle, which he had smuggled into camp. The weapon was accidentally fired by Thomas Boland, 14, also a Scout, of 6514 North Richmond street.

The Gillingham chair, one of the greatest masterpieces ever produced by an American craftsman. An exact replica may be seen at the Danersk Exhibition all this week.

By request

DANERSK

continues for one week its exhibition of rare furniture . . . showing Master Craftsmen actually at work

So great has been the interest aroused by this unusual exhibition that, in response to many requests, it is being continued for one week; closing Saturday, June 13.

At the Danersk showrooms at 620 North Michigan Avenue, you will have an opportunity to see master carvers, chair makers, and cabinet makers from our Connecticut shops plying their hereditary craft, handed down through generations, from father to son.

You will also see thirty pedigreed reproductions made by Danersk craftsmen—among them the Gillingham chair, which sold at auction for $8,500; George Washington's writing table; the General Ephaphroditus Champion sideboard, and many more.

A corps of furniture experts will be on hand to take you behind the scenes and show you how fine furniture is made. . . . You are cordially invited to attend this unique exhibition.

IMPORTANT
To all persons registering as visitors to this exhibition, we will extend a discount of 25% on orders placed within 30 days from date of the visit.

Do you like Treasure Hunts?

WHAT TEN-WORD SENTENCE CAN YOU MAKE USING ONLY THE WORDS IN TODAY'S ADS?

the Chicago Tribune will pay

$1000 A WEEK IN CASH PRIZES

for the Best ORIGINAL

"GOOD TIME CHARLIEGRAMS"

What Is a Good Time Charliegram?

A Good Time Charliegram is a sentence of exactly ten words which conveys a timely message of good cheer or sound advice:
"Every time you buy something you help bring back prosperity."
"The time to stock up is when prices are low."
"Large savings can be made on nearly everything bought today."
"When business starts humming prices are bound to rise again."

Do you think you can make up a better Good Time Charliegram than any of these?—using only the words appearing in advertisements in today's Chicago Tribune? Try your hand at it! Read the simple rules and start looking for your words now!

WHAT sentence of exactly ten words can you make up, using only the words which appear in advertisements in today's Chicago Tribune?

Ten little words — that's all you need to make up a Good Time Charliegram. Just pick the words out of any ads in today's Tribune except the Want Ads. Put them all together and they may spell one of the big cash prizes which the Tribune is paying!

Try it. It's loads of fun—just like a treasure hunt. Read the simple rules and start looking through the ads for the words now.

THE SIMPLE RULES:

1. The Chicago Tribune will pay $1,000.00 a week in cash prizes to the persons who send in the best and neatest complete sets of seven (7) original Good Time Charliegrams in accordance with these rules.

2. A Good Time Charliegram is a sentence of exactly ten words which conveys a timely message of good cheer or sound advice. The sentence must be made up of words taken from advertisements EXCEPT Classified or Want Ads, published in a single day's issue of the Chicago Tribune. To indicate where you get each word, simply write down the name of the advertiser following the word. Words are NOT to be taken from the Want Ads.

3. Not more than one word shall be taken from the advertising of any one store, company, or individual. If an advertiser has more than one advertisement in the same issue of the Tribune, only one word from such advertisements may be used in the same Good Time Charliegram. The same word may be used more than once, provided that it is taken from a different advertiser every time it is used.

4. The prizes for each week are as follows:

1st Prize	$250.00
2nd Prize	100.00
Next 2 Prizes $50.00 each	100.00
Next 4 Prizes $25.00 each	100.00
Next 25 Prizes $10.00 each	250.00
Next 40 Prizes $ 5.00 each	200.00
73 weekly prizes totaling $1,000.00

5. This offer is open to every one—men and women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

6. Good Time Charliegrams are to be submitted in complete sets only. DO NOT send in each day's entry separately. Hold all Good Time Charliegrams until you have the complete set of seven (7). Then send them to "GOOD TIME CHARLIEGRAMS," the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. All entries in the Third Series must be received in the Tribune office before 6 P. M. on Wednesday, June 17, 1931.

7. Contestants may submit as many sets of Good Time Charliegrams as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

8. You need NOT buy the Chicago Tribune. You may use the handy blank supplied each day in the Tribune or you may submit your entry on a separate sheet of paper. The Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at public libraries free of charge.

9. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be made to each tying contestant.

THEORISTS WITHOUT MUSSOLINI.

Mussolini should be able to examine American economic proposals with amusement. The cure has been sought by monitors and sages, reconstructionists, medicine men, idealists, scholars and Utopians. None has found a way to avoid the Italian and his scheme. He said everything they have to say several years ago. He said the democratic theory of representative government was unworkable in modern life. Upon that conclusion he reduced parliamentary power to nothing and established the syndics with himself as chief.

Nearly every American economist who concludes that present day political, social and economic forms cannot carry the load follows Mussolini up to the point of accepting his substitutes and there stops, with the result that all their structure is left hanging in the air. This is as true of the intellectuals such as Prof. W. B. Donham of Harvard and Norman Thomas, the Socialist, as it is of the aimless cave men, such as Brookhart.

Donham and Thomas, whose studies have recently been published, can prove that democracy with its capitalistic structure cannot continue with its present methods, but their alternatives are things democracy cannot do. If the economists were the right doctors the patient would be simply hopeless.

The least these economic schemes require is an expert and unselfish government which could be provided only in the minds of the great Utopians. Mussolini's theory acknowledged the need of it, but denied that popular politics could provide it. American theorists expect that the democracy which produces American government as it is will provide the necessary executives of strangely gifted intelligence, prevision and unselfishness to coördinate the activities of the country, if not of the world, in ordered and inerrant processes of production and distribution.

It is too much for the theorists to believe that Jimmie Walker, Tom Heflin, Cole Blease, Alfalfa Bill Murray, Smith Brookhart, etc., could carry the thing off, although they must observe them as the more than occasional offgivings of democracy. It is too much for them to believe that even Franklin Roosevelt, William Borah, George Norris, Louis Emmerson or others in the higher flight of politics could do it. They have seen no product of democratic action which could satisfy the executive demands of their systems. They stop short of the cool reasoning which would throw democracy into the discard along with the capitalistic system of profit. So they reason to nothing and offer the futility as America's way out. Consequently the democracy must put them aside as vaporists.

Furthermore, it will console itself with the thought that even Mussolini, who has the virtue of going to the end of the road, has no assurance of his future, whereas representative democracy within its limitations has experience as its guaranty. Its defects and faults are acknowledged. Its pains are spasmodic and its failures are disconcerting. It blunders into wreckage, and suffering is the result, but its virtue is its adjustability to the powers of its constituent elements. It does not depend on the god from the machine. It works as far as the masses will permit it to work. It does not depend upon a fiction of their ability to function. Wishful thinking is not its essence. Its weakness is human nature and that is also its strength. It is neither better nor worse. It progresses with the slow plodding of many feet. It does not depend on a rope thrown over a star.

POLITICIANS AND EQUAL REPRESENTATION.

The struggle between principle and self-interest which is always going on in politics reaches an acute phase in the effort to reapportion representation in accordance with the intent of the constitution. Mr. Evans reports from Springfield that certain congressmen whose places may be eliminated by a remapping of our congressional districts are importuning the subcommittee in charge of the work, or "cracking the whip" to force them to gerrymander in their favor. Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Carrollton, who doesn't like the reapportionment proposed by the subcommittee, is credited with persuading the house Democratic caucus to defeat it, on the ground that political prediction favors a Democratic majority two years hence.

In plain English this means that Mr. Igoe and his colleagues propose to violate the constitutional mandate now in order to violate it two years hence. They refuse to obey the law now in order that they may make party profit by disobeying it when they are in power.

Doubtless this is practical politics. Nevertheless a congressional job is not a vested interest. The mandate of the constitution, ignored for twenty years, is perfectly clear, and if the legislature does not now comply with it loyally there should be a house cleaning in the legislature by the voters that will long be remembered by politicians. The state has not been reapportioned for 30 years and districts no longer conform to the principle of equal representation. Millions of citizens in Illinois are partially disfranchised and we have in fact state government by a minority.

This is not an issue that can be compromised. It is vital to responsible representative government, and a gerrymandering of the state to save a few politicians ought not to be tolerated.

MILWAUKEE'S PROPOSED CONSOLIDATION.

Milwaukee county and city officials are discussing steps toward an ultimate consolidation of city and county governmental activities. The county board of supervisors, with one dissenting vote, has declared itself in favor of consolidation, on the theory that greater efficiency and reduced cost of official service will result. Chicago's metropolitan district will watch the proceedings with interest.

Milwaukee county includes, in addition to Milwaukee, the municipalities of West Allis, Shorewood, Wauwatosa, Cudahy, South Milwaukee, Whitefish Bay and the towns of Milwaukee, Granville, Wauwatosa, Greenfield, Oak Creek, Franklin, and Lake.

All of the municipalities, with the exception of Cudahy and South Milwaukee, are really a part of the city of Milwaukee, although governed by their own elected officials, and served by county officials as well.

There are cross fires even in the city of Milwaukee, because of separate county and city officials, although these cross fires have been somewhat ironed out. Clash of authority occurs occasionally between county and officials of the smaller municipalities.

Consolidation through annexation to Milwaukee has met with opposition, although successful in the absorption of North Milwaukee and smaller sections.

Those favoring consolidation contend that a duplication of governments, as at present, loads many unnecessary officials upon taxpayers and results in lessened efficiency and delay in public service.

Residents of the county who neither desire nor hope for public office are inclined to favor consolidation, hoping for increased efficiency as the chief result, although feeling that the reduction of taxes probably will be negligible, because to reduce taxes means to reduce expenditures, something the professional politician and office holder seldom accomplishes, while uniformly talking a good deal about it.

The proposal to consolidate city and county governments as it will be presented to the legislature by Milwaukee will apply to counties having 500,000 population, which limits it to Milwaukee county. If the consolidation should prevail, it can be applied to counties with smaller populations by reducing the population limit set in the law.

Consolidation has been discussed in Milwaukee for many years, and the discussion before the legislature, and its action, will be followed with interest by Milwaukee county, for the county has come a long journey with many local governments, some not as good as they should have been, and all more costly than they ought to have been.

Ultimate unification would mean not only reduced cost of governmental service to taxpayers, but greater efficiency in that service. Of even greater importance, it would mean concentration of responsibility, and make laxness in officials easier to locate and eliminate. Consolidation would necessarily reduce the number of public offices, with consequent simplification of the task of selection of the right type of public officials.

The measure now before the legislature is but a step toward complete consolidation. It is step one in the right direction, and it is hoped that ultimate consolidation will be accomplished as rapidly as proper consideration of all questions involved will permit.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

A resolution for a constitutional convention in Illinois has been passed by the senate and is under consideration in the house. Many observers are convinced that only through a wholesale revision of the constitution can such serious problems as those of taxation be solved.

Unfortunately, there has been no period in recent years when the political situation in Illinois has been less favorable to the calling of a convention, and political instability is matched by economic uncertainty. A constitutional convention ought not to meet in a time of unrest. Its deliberations should take place in an atmosphere of calm and confidence.

There is, of course, much room for improvement in the basic law of Illinois. The present constitution is, in many respects, a model of what a constitution ought not to be. Still, the mere desirability of change gives no assurance that any changes proposed would be improvements. Prudence commands postponing a call for a convention until circumstances are more favorable.

Editorial of the Day

CHICAGO'S FINANCIAL PROBLEM.

(Lincoln (Neb.) Star.)

Chicago is learning by bitter experience that public credit depends on the same factors as private credit. That is, in order to be able to borrow money when needed a city must have the reputation of paying its bills promptly when due. It may fall behind once, due to unusual circumstances, but when the habit becomes chronic it makes money lenders more cautious.

A new complication has developed in the form of a demand by the Chicago Real Estate federation to have the back taxes for 1930 remitted and canceled on the books. The proposal is to issue bonds for several hundred million dollars, representing the total tax revenue due for that year and not yet paid.

That kind of financing is hardly the right solution for the problem. It merely postpones the evil day of settlement and adds heavily to the annual interest burdens which will have to be met.

Nebraska did a much better job of it in dealing with the state deficit of 4½ million dollars several years ago. The legislature ordered and the people paid a special tax levy for 1927 which raised the entire amount. The indebtedness was all taken care of and the state is back on a cash basis, its warrants worth 100 cents on the dollar. Instead of owing money Nebraska holds about $14,000,000 of bonds of other states and of its own cities, counties, school districts and other subdivisions. It has a cash balance of about 6½ million dollars in the treasury besides.

Yet Nebraska has been carrying on a program of state highway construction, building a new capitol, erection of buildings at various state institutions, and other public works on a scale relatively equal to Chicago's expenditures for municipal projects, including the 1933 World's Fair.

If Chicago had gone at things in the Nebraska way instead of letting professional politicians squander its revenue and ruin its credit the city would now be in much better shape financially than it is.

A CHILD'S BAD HABIT.

FEW bad habits of children cause more inconvenience than enuresis. Even of greater importance is the emotional reaction of the child who has the habit. He considers himself in some way different. Partly as the result of that, partly because of what he learns from other children, and partly because of punishment or parental attitude, the child with the enuresis habit may develop an inferiority complex, or some other unnatural mental slant.

Parents do not understand why their child differs from others and, in their questioning, they often acquire notions that are wrong, and many of them are misleading.

Some of the commonly accepted opinions that are without foundation are these:

Enuresis indicates a need for circumcision; this operation will stop the habit.

Large, overgrown children are especially likely to have the habit; rapidly growing children are especially subject to it.

Undersized, slow growing children are usually the subject of enuresis.

There is a relationship between enuresis and left handedness; and the same as to thumb sucking.

Children have the habit because they sleep too soundly.

Enuresis can be expected in children who cut their teeth too early, or too late; or who walk too early, or are slow in learning to walk.

On the other hand, Dr. F. N. Anderson investigated the subject and found that there were many factors which contributed to this habit, some of which are not often regarded as important. In the main, he regards enuresis as a manifestation of emotional and personality disturbance resulting from social maladjustment and wrong training and as rarely due to physical causes, or diseases, or lack of mentality. Among Anderson's conclusions are these:

Emotional factor is the largest element in the causation of enuresis. The persistence of infantile traits of character and behavior is an important factor.

A large proportion of those with this habit are timid and sensitive.

Nail biting is frequently found among them.

A sense of inferiority leads to a continuance of the habit.

Parental attitudes, failure to train, oversevority of training are factors.

Previous illness and physical disorders contribute to enuresis by interfering with training.

Proper social treatment will quickly cure twenty-five per cent of the cases and will improve nearly all the remainder.

CALLUS ON FINGER.

Miss M. C. writes: I have a callus on my finger, caused by holding a pencil too tightly. What is a remedy?

REPLY.

If you will discontinue writing, or hold your pencil differently this will disappear without treatment. Unless you do, it will not, regardless of treatment.

"INTESTINAL FLU."

M. M. writes: Will you kindly explain the meaning of the term "intestinal flu," that is, if it has any meaning in the medical profession?

REPLY.

There may be an infection of the intestines with the cause of influenza, whatever that cause is, but nine times out of ten the term is used loosely and has no meaning. Many cases of typhoid fever have been called "intestinal flu."

VITAMINS.

M. B. writes: Will you please print a list of the foods containing vitamins A and D, especially the latter? I have been taking cod liver oil this winter, but do not wish to continue it in the summer and would like to substitute foods in its place.

REPLY.

Among the foods containing vitamin D are the irradiated foods, buttermilk, cheese, fat, seafish, and most vegetables.

Among those containing vitamin A are: Milk, cheese, butter, carrots, spinach, turnip, and many other vegetables.

GARBAGE CANS.

Chicago, May 30.—[Friend of the People.]—Would you kindly tell me if there is a city ordinance requiring property owners to supply containers for ashes and old refuse?

Across the alley from my apartment is a six or seven flat building and all winter long and so far this spring ashes have been carried to the alley back of the garage and left there for as long as four to six weeks. MRS. W. K.

There is an ordinance requiring the provision of metal receptacles for the accommodation of refuse output. However, report states that in the case of the six flat building referred to the garbage output is burned in the furnace and ashes and cinders are removed by private scavenger service. Ashes are not placed in the alley but are kept on own premises. When complaint was investigated alley was found in first class condition.

TO COLLECT OLD DEBT.

Chicago, June 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I hold a judgment for $70.00 against one of my former customers. How can I proceed in enforcing this judgment?

1. Can I garnishee the wages of her daughter who lives with her and is about 20 years old?
2. Can I attach her personal property?
3. Is there any cost involved?
4. Who pays for it?

J. B. L.

1. No.
2. Yes, as to the personal property of your debtor. If she is head of a family, her exemption is $400.00 worth.
3. Yes. The attorney's fee would be the largest item.
4. You would have to pay your own attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

AUTOMATIC RENEWAL OF LEASE.

Chicago, June 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A lease for an apartment was signed three years ago by a young lady. Last year she was married. The lease that was signed was for only one year.

1. Does the lease automatically renew itself when signed by the lady with her maiden name, although now her husband is the head of the house?
2. If the lease is broken can the husband be held? MRS. R. S.

1. Yes, if the parties stay and pay rent.
2. Not on the bare facts stated.

AN OPEN FACED LETTER TO THE ROAD COMMISSIONERS.

"Notice: Use Outer Lane Except When Passing."—Road Sign. Dear Road Commissioners: We take our typewriter on our lap to tell you that we should dearly love to use the outer lane with our old bus when we go for a ride and only turn into the next lane when passing a flivver or a milk truck. BUT how can we use the outer lane when it is full to overflowing with weird looking humans with their right hands stuck in the air and wriggling their thumbs. If, Road Commissioners, you will be kind enough to scrape the hitch-hikers from the outer lane we should be most delighted to use it. Let us have a "Shove the Hitch-Hikers from the Outer Lane Week." For, if you can get that outer lane clear for only a week, it will make for happiness and joy for that long anyhow. Or else build a special lane for the hitch-hikers and make 'em stay in it. If you can.

PACT.

Not that our love is changeless, not alone
That the great stars turning across the sky
Consume themselves to the irresolute stone
In definite suns burning endlessly,
Nor that the good flesh wears away from bone
And tides recede and the red leaves go dry
And last year's hyacinths are sweet dust blown
Down this year's roads, can sanction the old cry
Of Love! love! love! unless the pact he made
That only sunny hours be given you;
In the dark hours when all the debts are paid
We separate to give the devil's due,
For though your love be comradeship as well
I go alone for little walks in hell.

NANCY SHORES.

"SUMPTUARY LAWS are among the exploded fallacies which we have outgrown," said James Anthony Froude in his History of England, written nearly a century ago, "and we smile at the unwisdom which could expect to regulate private habits and manners by statute." James Anthony may have smiled back in the naïveté of his early Victorian life, but then, he'd never seen the lovely spectacle of These States under Volstead. If he had he would not only have smiled "at the unwisdom which could expect to regulate private habits and manners by statute." He would have laughed long and raucously.

"HEADS PORTIAS," says the Her-Es, while The Trib says, "Women Lawyers Name Mary Kelly State President." Notice, students at the universities of journalism. You observe here, children, that one head writer keeps true to journalistic tradition and quite properly refers to lady lawyers as "Portias." In a newspaper all lady lawyers are Portias. The Trib copy reader, who either forgot the rules or openly defined tradition, should be given a severe slap on the wrist.

LET'S HAVE LESS WHEAT AND MORE TWO-HEADED CALVES.

R. H. L.: I dined with the farmer who mortgaged his farm to send his three boys to college in the hope that they could some day pay off the mortgage, and whose daughter is training to become a movie actress or a manicurist. We had a sumptuous repast—fresh eggs, creamery butter (he sells all his cream), and early vegetables from the chain store in town (he has been too busy to make garden yet). He expressed his views on various topics thus: "The trouble with us farmers is that we produce common necessities, and nobody cares about them. If a fellow could raise some sort of parlor ornaments—for instance, if he could get his hens to lay Easter eggs, or if he could persuade his cows to give milk that would supply massage cream, he would be sitting pretty. I knew a man once who stocked an old frog pond with gold fish and grew rich in three years. And you know, yourself, what big money there is in two-headed calves. I bet if a fellow had the capital he could take our common navy beans, put them up in fancy packages with a bathing beauty on the label, advertise them as toasted—not a pain in a potful—good for films and superfluous hair—endorsed by the clergy and Clara Bow—and he could become a plutocrat in no time.

"Or, say a fellow could popularize pumpkins, get an analysis showing that they had all the vitamines in the alphabet, and were curative for baldness and bad complexions, and helpful in hallotosis; tie them up in green ribbons and have a special brand for Mother's Day, People Going Abroad, etc.—why, he couldn't supply the demand.

"Yes, sir. Necessities are in the discard nowadays. It's luxuries for everybody, if they have to go hungry to have them. It has been hinted that us farmers indulge too freely in automobiles and silk socks. Maybe so. Yet when we see coal miners, bricklayers, and garbage haulers riding around in cadillacs, we can't be blamed much for sporting some sort of a car. Take any old shanty out in the backwoods, where you used to see a pack of lazy, lop-eared hounds fighting flies in the front yard, and today you'll find a parcel of rusty, flat-tired fords in their place. And no flies."

So I gathered the idea that, after all, what is one man's luxury is another man's necessity—all a matter of relativity that needs an economic Einstein to figure it out. EOLUS.

OUR JAWN McCUTCHEON gets the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Notre Dame. Congratulations to both parties. Usually artistic and literary genius in America has to go abroad to get medals and degrees and things. But, look—here is a college right here at home that has found out that a man right here at home has done a lot to make people happy and to inspire them by his drawings. Well, well, well! Will wonders never cease?

PERSONALLY CONTROLLED.

If life were like a radio,
And all we had to do
Was turn a dial a notch or so
To tune in something new—
If we, each moment of the day
Could choose where we were at,

'Twould soon fall very flat.
'Twould be a frightful bore, I know,
If life were like a radio.

LOWER THE AIM!

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 8, 1915.

LONDON.—For the first time on record a Zeppelin in the air has been destroyed by an aviator in an airplane. Reginald J. Warneford, a young Canadian sublieutenant in the royal navy, who mastered airplaning only this summer, has performed the feat, and tonight is somewhere within the British lines, while the Zeppelin lies in ruins sprawled on the roof and grounds of an orphanage near Ghent. Falling there a blazing mass after being struck by the young aviator's bombs, its crew of 28 men were killed, as also were several occupants of the orphanage.

CHICAGO.—President L. A. Busby of the Chicago Surface Lines offered the 11,000 employés an increase in wages amounting to practically 3 per cent. Increases were granted on a sliding scale to men who have been employed less than five years. The five year men received no advance. The scale fell far short of satisfying union officials and they reported that the increases were so small that they would not submit the offer to the rank and file. International President W. D. Mahon will be notified of the offer and he is expected to come to Chicago at once. The question of a strike will not be considered until after Mr. Mahon arrives.

NEW YORK.—Charles Klein, the playwright, who perished on the Lusitania, left his fortune, with the exception of $6,000, to his widow and two sons. The estate is said to be worth in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 8, 1901.

PARIS.—All Paris is indignant over the treatment accorded to ex-Queen Ranavalona of Madagascar by the ministerial authority. Since she arrived in Paris she has been annoyed and humiliated repeatedly by the four surety agents who have accompanied her wherever she goes. The ministry is proceeding on the apparently absurd pretext that English agents are likely to aid the queen to escape to England, where aid would be accorded her to regain her throne under a British protectorate.

LONDON.—Andrew Carnegie has turned over to the trustees $10,000,000 for the benefit of Scotch universities. An official announcement of the scheme of education accompanies the donation.

WASHINGTON.—While the Cubans are disposed to be unreasonable in regard to the acceptance of the Platt amendment, the President and his advisers are not worried over the situation. They are inclined to deal gently with the Cubans and treat them much as if they were spoiled children. But at the same time the islanders will be met with firm treatment at the hands of the administration.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 8, 1881.

WASHINGTON.—There are rumors here that Secretary of State Blaine and James Russell Lowell, United States minister to England, may soon change places. It is intimated that Mr. Blaine is anxious to go to England and that Mr. Lowell is quite willing to take his place if it be satisfactory to President Garfield. The rumors are given for what they are worth and they probably are not worth much.

CHICAGO.—Nothing new was discovered in the Winnetka murder mystery. New York dispatches have shown that the beheaded man was not Bernhard Porzig, as that gentleman is now somewhere in Germany, and this makes it necessary for the authorities to exert themselves and make further efforts to discover who was slain.

CHICAGO.—News of the suspension—temporary or permanent the future must determine—of the Garden City Distilling company, of which Simon Powell is president, created a ripple in business circles. A conference of the principal creditors was held at the home of Mr. Powell and the general view was favorable to giving the company a chance to go ahead once more. The place was closed by the sheriff on judgment notes held by Isaac Waixel, the well known cattle dealer; Meyer Hirsch, and Charles Henrotin, the broker, their claims aggregating $75,000.

THE TRAINING OF A GUNMAN.

Chicago, June 3.—There is something relative to the shooting of the policeman by the schoolboy that I should like to bring to general attention. I should like to see a crusade against the sale of toy firearms and against allowing children to play games involving shooting and killing.

One afternoon recently I was walking along a street in a well to do neighborhood in Hyde Park. It might have been any other part of the city. Suddenly I was sprung upon by a group of little boys, who had lurked behind some shrubbery in a yard. I was commanded to "Stick 'em up!" and threatened with several other sorts of firearms—toy pistols, air rifles, and popguns. Thinking it best to ignore their rude play and continue on my way, I tried to step out around the menacing group, and was immediately "bang-bang-banged" at by the entire mob and informed that I was "shot dead."

Now consider the psychology of the situation: These little boys so carried away by their bandit game that they should molest an elderly lady—any one for a victim. Consider the habit of mind being formed by their play—the "shoot to kill" habit.

In times of war we are used to children playing battle. But here is the dramatization of outlawry, the making a hero of the holdup man. Is it such a far step from such games of little children to the act of the Corry boy in the school gymnasium? A. G. R.

THE COST OF ELECTRICITY.

Chicago, June 1.—I have been interested in the letters regarding the charges and reductions by the Commonwealth Edison company. My own bill was "reduced," as the company claims, but I pay more every month, even in these depressed times when we are shut down nine-tenths of the time. My present bill calls for 89 kilowatt hours used at 3c or $2.67 for current used, and kilowatt demand, 1.8@$2.20, or $3.96, for cover charge, for which we get no current and no discount. I could pay dividends if I could collect more than twice as much from every customer as he actually uses. It is easy to reduce charges that way, and I wonder where the commerce commission were vacationing when they let the company put any such deal across. C. W. B.

A CENTRAL AIRPORT.

Chicago, June 1.—Last Thursday the writer rode in an airplane from Springfield, Ill., to Chicago, the trip taking one and one-half hours. Disembarking, I boarded a 63d street car, transferred to Stony Island avenue and then to 79th street, reaching my home at 7817 Essex avenue in just one hour and five minutes. I never realized until then the necessity of our city having an airport accessible to the downtown district.

It seems to me that at an agreed point along the lake shore new land could be made and a landing field established, this being in my opinion imperative in view of the approaching World's Fair.

ROBERT W. MCKINLAY.

MORE LAW FOR MOTORISTS.

Chicago, May 29.—I would like to call your attention to a statement appearing in the editorial entitled, "More Law for Motorists," in Friday morning's TRIBUNE, which the facts do not substantiate.

The Chicago Motor club, instead of backing the drivers' license law now pending in Springfield, has been its principal opponent, while chambers of commerce, women's clubs, school authorities, and safety groups throughout the state have urged its passage.

In its efforts to block the passage of a drivers' license law the Chicago Motor club has brought forward amendments to the bill now pending which would so emasculate it as to make it worthless as a safety measure.

The drivers' license law recently passed by the senate as senate bill No. 1 and now pending before the house of representatives conforms to the standard drivers' license law recommended by the national conference on street and highway safety called by Secretary Lamont. It has resulted in the substantial saving of lives in the twelve states where it is now in force.

The difficulties which you suggest in your editorial would inevitably accompany a weak and worthless bill such as proposed by the Chicago Motor club, but the experience of states such as New York and Pennsylvania, where the standard drivers' license law has been enforced for years, does not indicate that such abuses follow the adoption of an effective bill. C. L. RICE,
President, Chicago Safety Council.

PROHIBITION IN THE LEGISLATURES.

Mount Morris, Ill., June 2.—Prohibition repeal bills in one form or another met defeat in 1930-1931 legislatures of California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Iowa, Indiana, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, and a governor's veto in Illinois. Note that Connecticut and Rhode Island, which refused to ratify the 18th amendment, are there in New Jersey, all wet bills and resolutions died in committee. Referenda on repealing state prohibition were defeated in legislatures of California, Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Washington. Resolutions asking for a constitutional convention to repeal the 18th amendment were defeated in New Jersey, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin—yes, Wisconsin. Bills to legalize beer, wine and other liquors were defeated in Arkansas, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Nebraska, South Dakota, and Washington. Forty-two states took action either to sustain or strengthen some aspect of their liquor laws.

BLAME SYSTEM OF PROSECUTION FOR U. S. CRIME

Alliance with Politics Is Called Factor.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—A severe arraignment of the system of crime prosecution prevailing in the states is contained in a 300 page report of the Wickersham commission to the President, which was made public by the White House today.

G. W. WICKERSHAM. [Acme Photo.]

The increase of crime, one of the gravest problems confronting the nation, the commission finds largely the result of ineffectiveness of criminal justice, attributed partly to archaic procedure unsuited to modern conditions, to primitive organization of the prosecuting machinery, to the incapacity of prosecutors, to the subjection of prosecutors to political organizations affiliated with criminals and partly to the lack of scientific treatment of criminal tendencies of individuals in formative stages.

The commission submits five recommendations "applicable generally to substantially all the state, pointing out the lines to be followed in attempts to better local systems of prosecution." These recommendations are:

"1. Elimination, so far as may be possible in our system of government, of political considerations in the selection and appointment of federal district attorneys and prosecuting officers and of appointments based upon political activity or service.

"2. Better provision for the selection and tenure of prosecutors in the states and especially for the organization, personnel, tenure, and compensation of the staff of the prosecuutor's office.

"3. Such an organization of the legal profession in each state as shall insure competency, character, and discipline among those who are engaged in the criminal courts.

"4. A systematized control of prosecutions in each state under a director of public prosecutions or some equivalent official, with secure tenure and concentrated and defined responsibility.

"5. Provision for legal interrogation of accused persons under suitable safeguards."

The commission declared itself "in substantial accord" with the major conclusions of the Illinois, New York, and other crime surveys.

The major findings follow:

"Juvenile delinquency is the heart of the problem of crime prevention.

"Careful working methods and administrative practices in nolles, acceptances of plea of lesser offense, and other forms of dismissals and dispositions without trial, whereby the responsibility for these dispositions will be definitely located, careful records will be required, and the dispositions will be based on thorough inquiry and on definite principles.

"Abolition of requirement of grand jury indictment in every felony case.

"Right of the accused to waive trial by jury.

"Increase of judges' control over the conduct of the trial.

"Development toward centralized state supervision of the administration of criminal justice in all its part."

JAKE FACTOR'S HEARING TO BE RESUMED TODAY

Accused of defrauding Englishmen of $5,000,000, and with his citizenship in question, John [Jake the Barber] Factor today will renew his fight against extradition to England in the hearing before Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. The hearing, it is anticipated, will inaugurate a long legal battle over the admissability of the evidence presented in scores of depositions by Franklin Overmeyer, counsel for the British crown.

Defense counsel, headed by Senator Otis F. Glenn, will contend that the depositions indicate fraud in the amount of only $9,000. Further, they claim, neither the charge of conspiracy nor that of receiving money with the knowledge that it was fraudulently obtained, are actionable under the extradition treaty. On this basis they will ask that the extradition warrant be denied.

HOOVER ORDERS NEW NAVY CUTS TO SAVE MONEY

Decision Follows Parley at Rapidan Camp.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Orange, Va., June 7.—[Special.]—The United States navy, cut to the point where its new warship construction program is proceeding at hardly half the speed recommended by its highest officials, is to make new economy sacrifices, in addition to the $15,000,000 savings which White House officials announced yesterday would be affected during the 1932 fiscal year.

ADMIRAL W. V. PRATT. [A. P. Photo.]

This was disclosed today at the conclusion of the three day series of economy conferences which President Hoover has held with Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, and other high ranking admirals, in the secluded confines of his fishing camp on the Rapidan river, thirty-five miles from this city.

Additional Plans for Cut.

A White House official at the camp stated that further conferences last night and this morning had developed additional possibilities for navy cooperation in the Hoover economy program. Although it was stated a resurvey of naval activities had been made today and that naval officials would make new studies in Washington, no information was divulged as to how much more the navy high command would be called upon by the President to trim off its 360 million dollar appropriation for next year.

There were the strongest indications, however, that all navy hopes of speeding up the new warship construction program during the next two years, to bring the American fleet closer to the parity with Great Britain, which was emphasized as won by the United States at the London naval conference, were blasted during the Rapidan log cabin conferences. All naval officials left the camp in automobiles late this afternoon bound for their homes in Washington. President Hoover elected, however, to remain at Rapidan another night.

Gibson Talks with Hoover.

Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, and the diplomat who is expected to head the American delegation to the 1932 Geneva arms conference, stayed over with the President for a discussion of the problems to be met at the arms parley, where a new attempt is scheduled to be made to reduce the size of battleships and battleship turret guns as well as arrange for arms limitation by the method of limiting a defense budget.

L. V. L. ATTACKS BILL EXTENDING COUNCIL TERMS TO 4 YEARS

S. M. SINGLETON.

Under the heading, "Aldermanic Bill Is Bad," the Legislative Voters' league oday in its official publication attacks the bill before the general assembly which would extend the two year terms of the present aldermen to four years without an election.

Members of the city council are in favor of the bill. Under its terms they would retain their seats until 1935.

The Legislative Voters' league, according to Shelby M. Singleton, executive secretary, opposed the bill, which would extend the term of Chicago ward committeemen, and is strongly opposed also to the aldermanic bill, which the league considers to be much worse.

"The sponsors of this bill have ignored the fact that extension of the term of public officials is explicitly forbidden by the state constitution," says the league publication. "Section 28 of Article 4 deals with the subject in unmistakable language as follows:

"'No law shall be passed which shall operate to extend the term of any public officer after his election or appointment."

BANKERS BACK BILL TO INCREASE HIGHWAY POLICE

Charge Foes Are Playing "Selfish Politics."

The Illinois Bankers' association issued a statement yesterday charging that opponents of the bill now pending in the legislature to add fifty men to the state highway police force are playing "selfish, short sighted politics."

The bill, now on third reading in the house, carries an amendment making clear the power of the state police to make arrests in towns, a power which was recently curtailed in an opinion given by Attorney General Carlstrom at request of the Sangamon county state's attorney.

"The highway police force should be clothed with all the power it had been presumed to possess prior to the rendering of the opinion of the attorney general," asserted M. A. Graettinger, executive vice president of the bankers' association.

"During the two years in which this authority has reposed in the highway police, the capture of bank robbers has been greatly facilitated owing to the intelligence, efficiency and relentless efforts of men on the force.

"Records will disclose that highway policemen have displayed the same energy in behalf of farmers molested by stock thieves and in protection of filling stations."

Opposition to the bill is being fostered by a few individuals seeking their own personal ends, the bankers' association charged, adding that the question of protecting life and property is being subordinated by "this handful of opponents of the measure."

The highway police force is in danger of being "hamstrung" for political expediency, the statement of the bankers' association avers. In no instance, the statement claims, has Gov. Emmerson or the heads of the highway police permitted the force to be used for any purpose but the preservation of peace, enforcement of the state laws and arrest of criminals.

Legionnaires of the Beverly Hills post joined yesterday in a review with cadets of the Morgan Park Military academy. CIRCULATE FALSE REPORTS OF JOBS AT HOOVER DAM

Reno, Nev., June 7.—(AP)—Unemployed labor in the east is being falsely informed that jobs are available at Hoover dam, Archie L. Cross, state director of employment, said here today.

Cross said one advertisement advised that applications for work at the Boulder canyon project could be made for one dollar. He reported another advertisement asserted there were "1,000 jobs at Boulder dam."

There now are 3,800 applications for jobs on the dam, and 1,200 men are awaiting a chance to begin work it was explained.

Close Friend Pens Story of O. Henry's Life

Tells How Prison Term Clouded Happiness.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"THE CALIPH OF BAGDAD," by Robert H. Davis and Arthur B. Maurice [Appleton], is the latest biography of one of the most colorful characters in American literature, "O. Henry." One of the reasons for O. Henry's colorfulness is the fact that nobody really knew him. He was a man of mystery, and in none of the lives or sketches which have been written about him has the fact been so evident as in

O. HENRY.

"The Caliph of Bagdad," for one of the authors of this biography was, so far as intimacy went with Sidney Porter, his most intimate friend. Bob Davis was one of his first editors and always one of his admirers and yet he never really felt as if he were taken into the heart of O. Henry.

Much of the material in "The Caliph of Bagdad" was gathered from men who knew O. Henry, either in his boyhood and youth or in his New York days, but not one of them really knew the man who came to be known as the most spectacular popular short story writer of his day.

Much of Sidney Porter's reticence was due to the fact that he was in constant fear of being recognized by some one who had served in the Ohio state penitentiary with him, the authors say. During his life in New York he never mentioned to a living soul that he had served a prison sentence, or that it was while he was in prison that he began to write. Every one in New York knew it, and didn't care about it one way or another. Only Sidney Porter himself felt it such a terrible stigma that it became an old sore to him. Rumor says that he was blackmailed during his period of great success when he made certainly enough money to live comfortably and have occasional luxuries, but was always broke. He drove editors frantic by his promises to deliver stories on a certain date and his unchilled disregard of his promises, coupled with his constant demands for advances. But he was a lovable man, to many a lovable one, and unquestionably he was a great short story writer and they bore with him out of friendship and affection or out of sheer business necessity.

This prison sentence, the authors say, probably hastened his death, and it certainly darkened his life, and, so far as it is possible to judge from the evidence, Sidney Porter was innocent of the crime for which he was sentenced—misusing money in a bank in which he worked. "The writers of this book," they write, "would like nothing better than to remove forever the last stigma, the last doubt, from O. Henry's memory. But the convicting documentary evidence necessary for that has not been forthcoming. Yet the conceded facts are enough to justify posterity in rendering the verdict 'not guilty.'" Sidney Porter himself wrote his mother-in-law immediately after the trial: "I want to state solemnly to you that in spite of the jury's verdict I am absolutely innocent of wrongdoing in the bank matter, except so far as foolishly keeping a position I could not successfully fill." He deeply did Sidney Porter hide that period of his life that he deducted ten years from his age when giving it publicity, and his daughter was 30 before she learned the truth about those years.

The choice of O. Henry as a writing name has many stories about it. One of them is that there was a Capt. Orrin Henry connected with the penitentiary and may have suggested the name. Mr. Porter's own "specious explanation," say the present biographers, was that he picked the name out of a newspaper when he was in New Orleans and that O. stood for Olivier. He sometimes wrote under the name of Olivier Henry—among others. But what seems to be the most logical explanation to some of his friends is concerned with a secret club to which a few of the inmates of the prison belonged. One of the members hadn't what could be called much of a memory but he was a wonderful cook, and although everybody called Sidney Porter "Bill," the cook often stuttered "Oh, Henry, mix some more salad dressing." The name O. Henry had no significance to Porter until after it became a trade mark of his literary successes.

The scale of prices which this most heralded of all American short story writers received for his work are startling in these days of vast sums for short tales. For the earlier stories he received one cent a word. $170 for a 17,000 word story. Or sometimes even less. And he never received any sums except fractionally to be compared to present day second rater prices. The highest sum he ever received from the Munsey company, who paid well, was $500 for "Seats of the Mighty." In 1904 O. Henry published "no less than seventy-five stories, an average of a story and a half a week."

"O. Henry drank and drank hard," say the authors. "He was a two bottle man; that is, his average daily consumption in the years of his caliphing in New York was two quarts of whisky."

And that reminds us of O. Henry's recipe for writing a story which the authors quote:

"The first step is to get a kitchen table, a wooden chair, a wad of yellow foolscap writing paper, one lead pencil and a drinking glass. They are the props. Then you secure a flask of Scotch whisky, and a few oranges, which I will describe as the substance. We now come to the plot, frequently styled the inspiration. Combining a little orange juice with a little Scotch, the author drinks the health of all magazine editors, sharpens his pencil and begins to write. When the oranges are empty and the flask is dry, a salable piece of fiction is ready for mailing."

"The Caliph of Bagdad" contains much new and interesting material set down in a delightful, friendly, conversational manner.

Good Situation Well Handled in This Movie

Lawyer's Dilemma Makes a Good Story.

"THE LAWYER'S SECRET."

How dear we hold life's fleeting breath,
To fear dishonor less than death!

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Louis Gasnier and Max Marcin.
Presented at the Chicago theater.

THE CAST.

Drake Norris.....Clive Brook
Laurie Roberts.....Charles Rogers
Joe Hart.....Richard Arlen
Kay Roberts.....Fay Wray
Beatrice Stevens.....Jean Arthur
"The Weasel".....Francis McDonald
"Madame X," comedy gob..H. Goodwin
"Red," Joe's shipmate.....Bud Taylor

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This story takes for its basis the premise that a communication between a lawyer and client is as sacred as that between priest and penitent in a confessional. What, then, SHOULD an attorney do when, in his professional capacity, he is informed by his fiancée's terrified young brother that the kid has had a part in a murder for which an innocent man has been arrested—and of which is later found guilty?

Interesting situation!

And interestingly worked out!

The picture opens casually with views of sailors disporting themselves on shore leave. Joe Hart, a reckless, lovable, good hearted, and unlucky gob, has in his possession a pistol he was to have turned over to the armory. He loses all his money in a crap game and, on impulse, sells the weapon for $10 to another participant in the game—the kid brother, who also has been a loser.

From here on situations develop rapidly and convincingly. The sailor finds himself entangled in a mass of circumstantial evidence regarding the murder of the operator of the crap game. Brother Laurie also discovers himself in the divil of a predicament. He unbosoms himself to his sister Kay's fiancé, who is none other than the successful and famous lawyer, Drake Norris.

Also to Norris comes the girl who's engaged to the boy who's been thrown into jail.

What does Norris do?

Ask the picture.

"The Lawyer's Secret" is well and easily acted by the entire cast, with special honors going to "Buddy" Rogers, who appears in a new type of rôle for him. Strange to see the erstwhile laughing, singing, trombone playing juvenile lead as a quaking evader of justice! Young Mr. Rogers gives a mighty good account of himself!

"The Lawyer's Secret" has its weak moments, but is, in the main, suspenseful and logical. And, what is probably most important—it entertains.

See you tomorrow.

The pageant was written and arranged by Mrs. Edwin Romberg, president of the nursery and general chairman of the drive now in progress. Miss Hazel Harris, 748 Independence boulevard, will take the part of Ruth in "Ruth and Naomi" in the pageant.

Among those who are scheduled to speak are Mayor Cermak, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, Dr. Louis L. Mann. Col. Edwin Romberg will be toastmaster. A musical program will also be given.

SURVEY TELLS RURAL CHURCH SUFFERS LOSS; METHODS CRITICIZED

New York, June 7.—[Special.]—Protestant churches in six widely different kinds of rural American territory, comprising more than one-third of the area of the United States and containing 3,500,000 persons, are exceedingly weak and have relatively few members, according to a report made public today of a survey conducted by the Institute of Social and Religious Research.

The general tendency in the territory studied, according to the report, is toward a further loss of power to attract and hold the people.

It is stated that the ineffectiveness and continuing decline of the Protestant churches in the regions studied are attributed in part to the policy of using stereotyped methods in the rural districts.

Four of the areas are of comparatively recent settlement. They are the grazing section, the dry farming section, the high mountain districts of the far west and various cutover lands. The two other areas include the old hilly sections of New England and many counties in long settled country of the middle west.

In the four new areas the average membership of the Protestant churches was 68, against 161 in Roman Catholic churches and 370 in Mormon churches. The average Protestant membership for the individual areas ranged from 73 for the dry farming regions to 46 in Vermont rural territory.

"The churches of small centers and open country districts average much smaller than this," continues the report, "and a large number of them have fewer than 25 members apiece."

The report says that "the responsibility for affording religious ministry to the people of these vast hinterlands of the church is largely a Protestant responsibility.

"In the old level areas the abandonment of country churches is progressing at an accelerating speed. In Vermont the proportion of families to churches has declined a third in fifty years."

Al Jolson's Bid for "Green Pastures," as Talkie, Meets Defeat

New York, June 7.—(AP)—Al Jolson's hope of playing "De Lawd" in "The Green Pastures" was shattered today. Rowland Stebbins, producer, announced he had declined the blackface comedian's offer for the motion picture rights of the Broadway attraction.

Jolson had cherished the dream of stepping into the shoes of Richard B. Harrison, Negro dramatist who created the rôle and played it during more than 500 performances.

Charles G. Stewart, general manager for Stebbins, said the play would close its Broadway run June 27 and start a tour which "may require several years."

Public to See Lincoln Tomb, Now Remodeled

Hoover to Reopen the Building June 17.

Springfield, Ill., June 7.—[Special.]—When Abraham Lincoln's tomb is reopened to the public after President Hoover has dedicated it June 17, it will have the same external appearance, but the interior will display a complete transformation.

Months of labor and $250,000 have gone into the remodeling, which has been conducted by State Supervising Architect C. Herrick Hammond on orders from Harry H. Cleaveland, director of public works and buildings, and Henry Kohn, director of purchases and construction.

Whereas the tomb and the lofty monument under which it lies had two entrances before the reconstruction, it now has only one, through the elimination of the museum, which is now housed in a building nearby. Visitors enter from the south directly into a large rotunda, dominated by a replica of Daniel Chester French's Lincoln, which occupies the central space.

Extensive use of marble has been made in all chambers and galleries of the tomb, the walls of the rotunda being a harmonious combination of buffs and browns.

Ornamental cornices supporting the indirect lighting system panel the walls. Galleries leading into the sarcophagus are featured by nine bronze statuettes of Lincoln, each a replica of the work of a famous sculptor. French, Fred Torrey, and Leonard Crunelle are each represented by two models, while Lorado Taft, Adolph Weinman, and the late Augustus St. Gaudens have one each.

St. Gaudens' bronze is of his famous standing Lincoln which marks the entrance of Lincoln park in Chicago. One of the French models is a bronze casting of the original model for his statue in the national Lincoln memorial at Washington; the other is a copy of his Lincoln at Lincoln, Neb.

Crunelle's work shows Lincoln, the soldier, during the Black Hawk war, and Lincoln, the orator. Torrey's statuettes depict Lincoln, the ranger, and Lincoln, the circuit riding lawyer. Weinman's contribution is of his seated Lincoln at Hodgenville, Ky., and Taft's is of his Lincoln at Urbana.

Over the spot where Lincoln's body lies beneath twelve feet of solid concrete, is the massive sarcophagus of warm, red hued marble. It bears the simple inscription, "Abraham Lincoln, 1809-1865."

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 7.—[Special.]—Part of the setting for "Mad Madness," which Helen Twelvetrees and Ricardo Cortez are making at Pathé, requires a bust of the conceited gangster, whose rôle Cortez plays, and who likes to admire himself in picture, print, and clay. Strangely, the sculptor who modeled the bust of Cortez for use in the picture turns out to be Charley Gemora, Spanish-Irish-Filipino gentleman of many talents, who was the famed gorilla impersonator in "Ingagi." Gemora said of his work in depicting a gorilla, in that film: "I do not regard it as a piece of deception, but as a work of art." He thinks the gorilla outfit which he modeled, painted, and donned is the crowning achievement of his artistic career, although others think that a serious bust which he made of John Barrymore is real art. Gemora came to this country from the Philippines, where his father fought for eight years alongside American soldiers.

Mary Brian, whose contract was not taken up by Paramount because the young actress' salary would have risen a couple of notches under her option agreement, has moved over to Universal, and is in a cast there making "Homicide Squad," which includes such tried and true troupers as Noah Beery, Pat O'Malley, young Russell Gleason, Leo Carrillo, and Carroll Naish, with George Melford directing.

Incidentally, Universal is one studio which refused to be concerned over growing clamor against gunman pictures. Such films made most of Universal's profits which have been netted since exhibition of "All Quiet on the Western Front," and it is young Carl Laemmle's policy, as boss of the plant, to put out gangster films as long as he thinks the public wants to pay money to see them.

Cecil B. De Mille and his wife left Hollywood yesterday on C. B.'s first vacation from motion pictures in eighteen years. Their first stop is Pennsylvania Military academy, at Chester, Pa., where De Mille attended college, and where he will receive a degree on Tuesday. Next stop is New York, whence they sail for Europe June 24 for a stay until late autumn. De Mille said he had not decided on his future film activities. His brother, William, who has been associated with Cecil De Mille throughout most of their film careers, recently signed up to return to Paramount, where both De Milles won their first and greatest fame as directors and producers.

The funniest wise crack of the week reached print in the Hollywood Reporter, six and eight page daily tabloid about the film industry. This publication held a contest to decide the most astonishing possible headline, and awarded first prize to "White Girl Marries Film Supervisor."

Teacher Calls Music the Cure of Some Crime

National Group to Open Sessions Today.

In line with the old adage that music hath charms to sooth the savage breast, Otto B. Heaton of Columbus, O., yesterday advanced the theory that it might also have a beneficial effect on the bad boys of the nation. Mr. Heaton is president of the National Association of Music Masters, opening today a three day convention at the Palmer house.

Questionnaires sent to heads of high schools and colleges and to wardens of penitentiaries, Heaton said, revealed that 70.3 per cent of the honor students of the institutions of learning could play some type of musical instrument, even if it were merely a ukelele. From the penal institutions came the report that only 3 per cent of the inmates had even the most rudimentary knowledge of any instrument.

"So we're almost on the verge of considering the adoption of the slogan, 'Teach a boy to blow a horn and he won't blow a safe'," smiled the music official.

Far from discouraging interest in musical instruction, radio has acted as a spur to the entire field of musical eduction, Mr. Heaton declared. He cited reports from headquarters in New York, to the effect that more than 2,000,000 children are now receiving lessons in piano in this country; that more than 15,000,000 pianos are owned here, and that there are 240,000 persons engaged in the teaching of music in the United States.

"Last year was the greatest year in history," he added, "for the sale of baby grand pianos. I say baby grands because the upright style is passé. In the first place, it ought never to have been developed. Pianos at first were the square affairs that stood on four legs. About the time of the civil war some one conceived the idea of an upright, which has neither the beauty nor the melody of the grand style.

"Now we have gone back to the grand piano, and a new development on the market that should prove popular is a diminutive size appropriate for our smaller living quarters of the present time. It will be shown, with other new features of musical instruments, to the dealers during the convention."

Chicago is the outstanding community in the musical world today because of the rapid strides it has made culturally, the association head said.

"Your opera building is the finest thing I know of in the world," he said. "Nothing in Europe can compare with it. It is the marvel of the musical world. Beside it Covent Garden is only a barn, and the Metropolitan cannot compare. Then, too, there is the extent to which Chicago schools have taken up the teaching of piano by groups. No other city can match this for the number of children receiving that instruction. And, of course, we have heard for years of such Chicago organizations as the Chicago Symphony orchestra, founded by Theodore Thomas.

"It's true we have become accustomed to reading front page stories about the activities of Al Capone and his ilk. But just as often now, it seems, we turn over the page to read about the wonders of Chicago's opera, or the newest chapters in the development of its World's Fair, and it all keeps Chicago much in the foreground of our consciousness. Your cultural advance has been rapid and far."

'RELIGION MUST KEEP PACE WITH CHANGING WORLD'—DR. D. J. EVANS

Kansas City, Mo., June 7.—(AP)—A picture of a "changing world whose gloom has compelled the Christian church to search for her strength," was presented the Northern Baptist convention here today.

With business matters sidetracked for the Sabbath, the convention listened to missionary speakers from many lands in the afternoon, and to a sermon by Dr. D. J. Evans, Rochester, N. Y., in the evening.

The divorce question, which has not been presented officially to the six thousand delegates, nevertheless is occupying the attention of the convention leaders.

Mattison B. Jones, Glendale, Cal., lawyer, elected Friday to the presidency of the organization, said "the American home, with its ideals and the sanctity we have given it, will be seriously menaced" if the present trend of laxity in divorce laws is continued another decade as it has the last two.

Grads to Hold Spotlight for Current Week

J. M. Beck Talks Tuesday at Northwestern.

The award of degrees to 1,500 graduates of the departments and schools of Northwestern university will climax next Monday an eight day program of commencement activities. At the University of Chicago 900 degrees are to be awarded June 16.

James M. Beck, congressman from Pennsylvania and former solicitor general of the U. S., will deliver the annual Coif address at the class day exercises in the law school of Northwestern university tomorrow afternoon. The address will be given on the installation of new members to the Order of the Coif, national honorary legal fraternity.

Alumni clinics will be held by the dental school Wednesday and Thursday in the laboratories and lecture rooms in the Montgomery Ward Memorial building. The alumni-senior dinner-dance will be held Wednesday night at the Hotel La Salle. Class day exercises on the Evanston campus will be held Friday morning. Saturday is to be alumni day.

Bishop Edward Holt Hughes will give the address at the baccalaureate services in Patten gymnasium Sunday afternoon. Sunday night the senior class will hold its annual candlelight service of song.

The 73d annual commencement will be held Monday, June 15, in Patten gymnasium. President Walter Dill Scott will confer the degrees on the candidates. Rufus C. Dawes, president of the 1933 World's Fair, will deliver the commencement address.

At the University of Chicago 400 degrees are to be given graduate students Tuesday morning, June 16. In the afternoon 500 undergraduates are to receive degrees. Alumni day, services in the university chapel and class day exercises will feature the commencement. Details of the exercises are to be announced later.

Officials of the universities estimated more than 3,000 parents and 7,000 other guests will attend the two commencements. Both universities are graduating a larger number of students than last year.

The Garrett Biblical Institute of Evanston opened its spring commencement exercises yesterday. Services were held in the First Methodist Episcopal church. Bishop Herbert Welch of Pittsburgh delivered the baccalaureate sermon. The exercises are to conclude Wednesday with the awarding of degrees by President Carl Eiselen.

Two thousand will be graduated on June 16 by the University of Illinois. Many of those students to receive degrees at Urbana are from Chicago and vicinity. Alumni meetings will be held the day following.

The baccalaureate sermon for the 700 1931 graduates of De Paul university was delivered yesterday in the College Church of St. Vincent by the Rev. Walter E. Case, C. M., head of the department of English at De Paul. A pontifical high mass was celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Edward T. Sheehan, bishop of Kiangsi, China.

Members of the faculty and the graduates marched from the administration building on the campus to the church at Webster and Sheffield avenue. In addition to the graduates of the various departments of the university, graduate nurses from St. Joseph's and St. Mary's hospitals were in line.

Yale Dean Talks to Graduates of Purdue.

Lafayette, Ind., June 7.—[Special.]—An appeal for men to adopt spiritual standards of success rather than those of money was made here today by Dean Charles R. Brown of the divinity school of Yale university. He delivered the baccalaureate sermon to more than 600 members of the fifty-seventh graduating class at Purdue university. His speech came as the climax to three days' alumni activities and preceded the commencement which comes Tuesday.

"What are some of the standards men use in sizing up each other?" Dean Brown asked. "The first, the easiest and the crudest is the money standard. When one man says to another, 'How much is Jones worth?' he is not thinking about the worth of Jones. He has in mind merely the cash value of things Jones happens to own.

"There are the standards furnished by learning. We have been told from above to get wisdom, get understanding.

"Far be it from me, here in a great university, to say anything in depreciation of the value of learning. Would that we all had more brains, more even than we think we have. That is a still larger order. Would that we had made more diligent and competent use of those brains.

"The final standards are the spiritual standards—the forces and the values which have to do with the making of character."

Walter Krull of Indianapolis, class of 1905, was elected president of the Purdue Alumni association; S. B. Fleager of Chicago, recording secretary; F. C. Gaylord of West Lafayette, vice president. David E. Ross was reelected the alumni association's representative on the Purdue board of trustees.

Lafayette College to Graduate 198 at Exercises June 12.

Easton, Pa., June 7.—[Special.]—The ninety-sixth commencement exercises at Lafayette college will be held on June 12. At that time 198 seniors will be graduated and 6 honorary and 11 graduate degrees will be awarded. The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered on Undergraduate day, June 10, by Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, president of the Princeton Theological seminary. William J. Cooper, United States commissioner of education, will give the commencement address on Friday.

The Chicago students who will receive degrees are John Moore Hills and George Bartlett Rogers.

Crisp Organdies and Linens Call for That Fresh, Tubbed Look

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Don't you like the idea of all the cotton piqué, washable corduroy, organdy and soft French linen things for summer wear? Nothing on a hot day makes you feel so reinvigorated as a shower and hopping into freshly tubbed things. Makes you feel much fresher than getting into a dry cleaned dress, no matter how well the dry cleaning is done.

An active soap and water summer is looming ahead. A nice tubbed look [not tubby] is to be the popular effect. One of the joys of the old shirtwaist era was the feeling you got with a waist that was crisp and clean. Which reminds one of other little details that contribute to this crisp freshness during the warm weather, chiefly, checking the slightest perspiration odor. There are mild astringents and stronger astringents, and where there is a tendency in the direction named, these should be administered with the regularity called for in each individual instance.

I can give you a formula, with instructions on how to use it properly, which will give you the most surprising relief. It's a simple preparation and inexpensive. But because the instructions must be followed, maybe it would be better for you to send for the pamphlet. It is applied every other night for three nights and then once a week to prevent a return of the trouble. I have had the most satisfactory reports from those who have used it.

However, you can buy really excellent astringents all made up. The powders and the salve preparations are good, but I feel that the astringents prepared for this particular emergency have more permanent advantage.

The thing is to get interested in some good preventive of any possible barrier to the clean, fresh, crisp miss of promised warm season vogue.

Alpaca Ideal Summer Fabric for Comfort

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Alpaca is one of the smartest summer costume fabrics, and this material, dear to our grandparents, is ideal for hot weather wear, for it is cool, sheds the dust, and its fresh, crisp surface is agreeable to the jaded eye.

Cheruit is using navy and black alpaca to make tailored suits worn with white façonné silk bolero blouses that are just the thing for the feminine commuter on hot days. Suzanne Talbot also favors alpaca to make smart separate coats trimmed with white piqué touches that "button off" for frequent washing.

Molyneux is using printed alpaca for many of the chic little three piece suits that are outstanding features of his new summer collection for his private clients. One of these is sketched today. It is printed with a small geometrical pattern in white on a black ground. Like practically all Molyneux's new daytime clothes, it has a short, slim jumper instead of a bodice. The skirt is slightly flared by circular pieces set in the sides below the hips, which are tightly molded.

The loose hip length jacket also flares by means of a plaited panel in the middle of the back. It has a narrow band collar of the printed alpaca, with ends that may be worn free or tied in front. Incrusted cuffs of white cross-barred organdie recall the cross-barred organdy yoke, outlining the square decollete of the jumper that has its short sleeves cuffed in the same manner. The belt is of white leather.

Threats of Suicide Weak Minded Way to Keep Fellow's Love

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What is a young man going to do with a girl who sends him threatening letters, telling him if he doesn't come to see her she'll commit suicide and leave a note, blaming him?"

That's "Joseph's" predicament. The girl is 23 and "Joseph" claims a now healthy distaste for her, though he beau-d her for some two years before their recent break.

Will he be held responsible in the eyes of the law if the girl should carry out her suicide threat, he asks. What can he do to draw her away from her melancholic decision, without involving himself again with the girl? He's through, so far as any affection for said girl is concerned, and he wants to remain through with her.

In another day we might have said to a young man so confronted: "Don't pay any attention to the threat. The girl won't carry it out."

But today it is hard to tell to what extent a girl might go, once she gets the suicide bug in her head. It's a lowdown turn to take with a young man whose affections can't be held in the legitimate way. It may be only a threat, however. But what an ironic touch to our so called modern, frank, and honest way of meeting love situations!

Why does a girl want to hold a man who shows plainly her company is no longer desirable? There's something terribly weak minded about a sister who clings for dear life to an unwilling suitor.

This suicide business grows more and more appalling. Even talking about it is bad enough. What is appalling is the complete disregard for life that infests such people; the total lack of soul recognition and the duty to see life through, no matter what the odds. Maybe this is becoming more melodramatic than the particular suicide threat necessitates, but one cannot follow the news columns, these days, without recognizing the terrific need of some kind of religious renaissance to set people right on the crime of even thoughts of self-destruction.

In answer to the question of whether the boy will be blamed: There's only one person to be blamed for taking his or her life, and it is the self-destroyer.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Seeks Proof.

"Dear Miss Blake: My friend and I love the same boy. How can I discover which one he really cares for?" "SADIE."

So long as he remains equally kind and attentive, he is not in love with either of you.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 7.—[Special.]—Alan Hoover, younger son of the President, arrived at the White House in time to accompany his mother yesterday to the presidential camp on the Rapidan. There the President had a large company of men as guests and Mrs. Hoover had several women. The latter were Mrs. Mitchell, wife of the attorney general, who was a guest of the President; and Mrs. Charles D. Rugg, whose husband also was in the presidential party. Mrs. Hoover and her son, with Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Rugg, went up together yesterday, Mrs. Hoover driving the car to camp, as is her custom.

The secretary of state and Mrs. Stimson were rusticating for the week-end as guests of Lawrence Richey, secretary to the President, at his fishing camp on Catoctin mountain in Maryland.

Mr. Justice Pierce Butler went to Buena Vista Springs, Va., today to take possession of the Griffith cottage. He has leased it for the season. Mrs. Butler, who is in their Minnesota home for the time being, soon will join her family at Buena Vista.

Mrs. Leander McCormick-Goodhart, wife of the commercial attaché of the British embassy, is established with their small child in a cottage at Bar Harbor, Me. They have leased it for the season. Mr. McCormick-Goodhart will join her there this week.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

An Unnecessary Response

Last evening I dropped in at the movies. Being alone and bored, I looked around for something interesting to occupy my attention. When the announcer of the news reel brought his explanation to an end, I heard a voice with a sharp, "Good night," promptly called out, "Good night." I felt like a slow motion picture

THE CLICK OF THE GATE

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS.

Iris, fifteen year old daughter of Iris de Bertincourt, disappears mysteriously from her home in a remote section of Paris. Iris has been separated for years from her mother, Marcel, a man of great charm but no moral sense. They are cousins and the family heirs of their tyrannical Aunt Victoire, the Comtesse de Castelmaurou. Marcel, planning to divorce Marcel and marry Maj. Alan Charnwood, Charnwood, about to leave for Africa, postponed his trip to look for Clare, assisted by Tommy Bostetter, a newspaper reporter.

Clare returns to her aunt's home and learns that her husband is already domiciled there. She seems to have changed in character, and has taken charge of the search for Clare. She goes to see Marcel at Helen Roderick's, the American woman for whom Iris has been named, and learns that they are friends, unknown to Iris. He recalls having seen the girl in Le Touquet, rambling heavily and hobnobbing with a coarse looking couple the night after Marcel entering the home of Suzanne Marly, an actress.

Clare goes to Iris, stating that Clare is being held for ransom. Her aunt offers a reward if Marcel and Iris promise to become reconciled. Marcel meets Alan at Helen's and drives them home. He accompanies Alan to his hotel room and attempts to asphyxiate Alan. He moves to Tommy's apartment.

Marcel sent flowers to Iris the night Clare vanished. From Iris' description of the man entering them Alan recognizes him as De Bertincourt's companion in Le Touquet. Alan, considering Marcel as the suspected instigator of the kidnaping, with the couple, Iris and Paris, his partners in crime.

INSTALLMENT XLIII.

SUGGESTIVE EVIDENCE.

Tommy's eyes were shining like blue stars.

"Yetta!" he crooned softly. "Yetta, with her volunteered account of your life, her charming cottage at—where was it?—Oh, yes, Samois-sur-Seine. Alan, this is too good! Didn't I tell you she was a bad hat? Illicit source unknown occupation—hang it, the woman has to live! Here, where are you off to?"

"Only to return the letter. I'll join you again directly."

Full of excitement, Charnwood plunged through the traffic towards the Rue Valle of the Hotel de Cluny, entered the gates, and at the top of the winding found Iris, seated on a bench opposite the row of famous fifteenth century tapestries.

"Have you discovered anything?" she whispered, starting up.

"I can't tell you anything definite, but we're sure of one thing—that Clare is perfectly safe and will be restored to you at the stated time. You needn't be afraid."

Her eyes, filled with gratitude, shone at him through a mist.

"You really mean that? You don't believe it's a hoax?"

The sight of her happiness went to his head. Glancing quickly around to be sure they were alone, he seized her powerfully and with a sense of irresistible raised kisses on her eyes, lips, throat.

"Don't—don't," she murmured, trying to push him away. "O, my dear, can't you understand that all this is over for us? Don't make it harder. Whatever happens, I'm committed to a definite course."

He kissed her again with dogged defiance, in spite of her protests, keeping his lips upon hers. When he let go both of them were trembling.

"You are going to be released from your promise," he said firmly. "Don't ask how, but I hope it will be sooner than you think. Just trust me and keep your head."

When he reentered the café he saw Tommy at the distant bar, hobnobbing with the proprietor, a black coated dignitary with the consequence of a vast seal. It was some moments before his friend sauntered towards him.

"O, so they bought a car?"

"I've been gathering information about Pietro," he confided. "I thought there might know something about him, and I wasn't mistaken. The name is Hector Lepin. He's a poster artist by trade, but so far as I can learn does little or no regular work—just gambles and hangs about. His connection with Mme. Warshavsky has lasted several years. She's a bit of a dark horse, but Gosseo gives her a good character, and says she's kept her partner from drinking himself to death."

"A drunkard, then! Iris mentioned that he smelled of liquor."

"Did she? Another bit of suggestive evidence. Yes, I fancy he's our man. By the boasting him, that's not so easy, but I've secured his former address in the Rue St. Jacques, and I propose to go there now and see what the concierge can tell us. Come along."

The Rue St. Jacques was only a quarter of a mile away, but they took a taxi to save time. As soon as they were seated Tommy produced a letter from his pocket and handed it to Charnwood, who recognized it as the one sealed with green wax which had come several days ago and which he had supposed might bear some relation to their case.

"When you first told me about all this," said Tommy, "I wrote off to an acquaintance of mine, one Baron de Chabenil, who lives at Dijon and has known De Bertincourt all his life. I wasn't going to tell you about his reply, but since things have turned out as they have you might as well read it."

Charnwood, deciphering the fine, slanting writing, uttered an exclamation of shocked enlightenment.

"Impending bankruptcy!" he cried.

"I thought that would open your eyes. You see what it says. The De Bertincourts are an impoverished family; the comtesse acquired her wealth by marriage. Marcel ran through his property years ago, since when he has borrowed, cajoled his aunt into paying his debts, and generally been on to the skin of his teeth."

"I don't believe Iris realizes all this," commented Charnwood slowly.

"Perhaps not, as she's not been dependent on him. He's tried to keep the real state of affairs dark, but with creditors hounding him and then the sudden threat of exposure—as De Chabenil says, it is only a rumor but it looks as though he's committed a forgery or misappropriated funds—the predicament is a devilish bad one."

"There's something I learned this morning," Charnwood informed him, suddenly very active. "A short while ago the comtesse quarreled with him and refused to have any dealings with him whatsoever."

"Did she? Is that so? It may explain a great deal. Imagine his abject position after leaning on her for an indefinite period he was all at once left helpless! Why, reduced to such dire straits, he'd be ready for anything."

"Even for subjecting his wife and child to untold suffering?" said Charnwood, sick at the idea. "Three million francs doesn't seem sufficient to bring a man to such villainy."

"If ruin were staring him in the face it might. Anyhow, we have a definite suggestion of a motive. Here we are. You'd better leave the interview to me."

They had halted before a gaping courtyard wet from a leaky tap, which sent rivulets eddying round islets of decayed refuse. One corner was occupied by an odds-and-ends shop, over whose entrance hung a half rotted shingle, the other, constituting the loge, sent forth a reek of frowsy onions through its half opened door. Crossing the worn cobbles they stopped resoundingly, to be answered by a little nutcracker woman with a face like brown, seamed leather.

"Monsieur Hector Lepin," demanded Tommy briskly. "Which floor, please?"

She gave a contemptuous sniff. "Gone," she snapped, "gone these four days." She was about to shut the door in their faces when Tommy barred it with his foot.

"Did you expect him back, of course?" he inquired, keeping a smiling face.

"Back? That I don't. He and madame have gone for good; their rent is let. Where are they now? How should I know?"

"But surely they gave an address for forwarding letters?"

So he said this Tommy extracted a fifty franc note from his purse and fingered it absently. The sharp eyes, gravitating towards it, underwent a swift change.

"Ah, they left an address. Not that there's much to forward. If monsieur wishes I don't mind showing it to him." She turned back into the dark, crowded interior and fished up a slip of paper from a soup tureen. "Here it is, monsieur. Read for yourself."

The two men saw in angular characters "Poste Restante, Samois-sur-Seine," and exchanged glances. So Yetta had not deceived them!

"Ah, thank you," said Tommy, still toying with the fifty francs. "But how exactly did they give up their flat?"

"I can tell you the very day—September 7th. As a matter of fact," assented the woman, hypnotized into something akin to amiability by the crisp note, "Mme. Lepin told me they had come into a small legacy, out of which they intended to buy a cottage. However that may be, they gave the two quarters of rent owing, settled all their accounts, and even purchased a car."

Tommy felt a sudden agitation of the pulses. Tommy, stolidly unconscious, went on drawing her out.

"So they bought a car!"

"Yes, and a nice one, too. They piled their trunks into it and drove off, all of them, all together."

Even Tommy's composure suffered shipwreck. "Who was driving?"

"Why, the invalid son of monsieur, to be sure. Did you not know there was a boy, crippled, not quite right in the head?" She tapped her dirty forehead meaningly.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

An Unnecessary Response.

Last evening I dropped into the theater. Being alone and become oblivious of everything around me. I felt like a slow motion picture in my haste to leave the theater.—G. M. LA V.

Fell Asleep on the Elevated.

My most embarrassing moment happened on the elevated the other night going home from work. I fell asleep shortly after sitting down as I was very tired. I awoke about twenty minutes later to find myself laughing out loud, much to the amusement of the well filled car.

You can bet I won't fall asleep again on any train. R. L. H.

Leslie Thorne Is Engaged to New Yorker

BY THALIA

THE engagement of Miss Leslie Thorne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Thorne, formerly of Chicago but now of Pasadena, to Mr. Dewey L. Peirce of New York City, was announced at a large dinner party Saturday night at the Indian Hill Country club. The wedding will take place in September.

Miss Thorne is an artist. For the last few years she has devoted herself to painting. Much of her work has been done in New York and the east.

In May, 1926, the engagement of Miss Thorne to James Cooper Doud, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Doud of Monterey, Cal., was announced. In August of the same year Mr. and Mrs. Thorne made it known that the wedding had been postponed indefinitely.

Cloughs, Dicks Dividing Old Donnelley Lake Forest Place.

When the C. Pardee Erdmans closed the Donnelley place in Lake Forest a year or so ago—do you remember they gave a "house cooling" party then?—they didn't completely dismantle the house. Mrs. Erdman is here now to finish the process. For the property, which she inherited from her father, the late Reuben H. Donnelley, has been sold to the Edison Dicks and the Kent Clows.

The land is naturally divided into two parts by a ravine. The Clows have purchased the part on which the house stands, and the Dicks have taken the other side of the ravine with the idea of building thereon. The Clows aren't to move in until fall, but Mrs. Erdman is evacuating the premises for its new owners before she joins Mr. Erdman and they go to their Folly ranch at Big Horn, Wyo.

Mrs. Erdman came on from Pasadena also to visit her grandmother, Mrs. R. R. Donnelley, and her aunt, Miss Naomi Donnelley. She brought the baby with her, and has been busy being partied and seeing her friends during the last week. She is to remain probably until the end of this week before departing westward.

Mrs. Cyrus McCormick Jr. Takes Studio for Sculpture.

Mrs. Cyrus McCormick Jr. has taken an atelier (we call it that because it is a very elegant and large one) in the studio building at 19 East Pearson street, which evidently means that she plans to work diligently at her sculpture. She is no dilettante artist, you know. She is a follower of the Archipenko school of sculptural ideas—if that's the proper way to refer to it. The studio is the spacious one on the top floor of the building that Frederic C. Bartlett used to have, and I'm told it's been fitted up most attractively by its new occupant.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Moyer of Lake Forest are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son at Alice Home hospital on Sunday, May 31. Mrs. Moyer is the former Elizabeth Farwell Millet.

Boba Butler, the 3 year old child of the Frank O. Butlers of Hinsdale, had a birthday party for a dozen of his playmates at Old Oak Brook on Saturday afternoon. The guests included Emmy Jane Smith, Knisley Dreher, Jean Holcomb, Billy and Buddy Kimball, Freddie and Natalie Hasbrook, Bobsie and Dickie Schmidt, Heddie Sheldon, and Mary Myers.

Parrot Without a Country Result of This Merry Jest.

The swain who aimed to be ingenious about sending a bon voyage remembrance to a girl friend departing for Europe got small thanks for his pains. After discarding the idea of having a case of bean sprouts [one of her favorite delicacies] awaiting her in her cabin, he fixed on the idea of a live and lively present—a cunning parrot. Imagine! Well, the young lady was delighted really, until she found out that the poor bird has thus been doomed to an everlasting roving of the seas. The quarantine laws forbid its being landed either in Europe or back in this country.

Soupçon—Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Elston Jr. of 1301 Astor street are home for the summer after spending the season at Miami Beach. . . . The John Wentworths have taken the Henry S. Bunting place, Nirvana, in Lake Forest, until Oct. 1. . . . Carter Harrison Jr. went along with Sterling Morton on the Morton yacht, Freedom, on its maiden trip east. . . . Mrs. John F. Moffett and the Moffett children, Johnny and India, have returned from 5 months in Phoenix, and, as the Moffett house in Winnetka has been sold, are to occupy the apartment at 999 Lake Shore drive owned by Mr. Moffett's mother, Mrs. Holbrook Clarke, for the summer. Mrs. Clarke is to sail the latter part of the month for several months in Europe. . . . Frank E. Pierce Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Pierce of 1325 Astor street, got home from Yale yesterday, and is to depart in a few weeks for England to participate in the Oxford-Cambridge-Yale-Harvard track meet.

More of same—The Howard Peabodys are up at Mackinac island for a week or ten days, putting their summer place in order before going up to occupy it for the summer. . . . Helen Bournique resigned from the board of the Junior league to devote her time and energies to assisting Judge Mary Bartelme in her Juvenile court work. . . . The Ernest Grahams' wedding gift to their son and his bride; the former Jane Lee, is, we hear, a completely furnished apartment at 1242 Lake Shore drive.

One of the lunching ladies at the Saddle and Cycle rushing out on the terrace and waving her arms, windmill-like, to flag the speedboat by which members are commuting back and forth from town these days. . . . Arthur Bissell in his office in the spacious new quarters of the Bissell-Weisert company in Diana court. . . . Mrs. Lawrence Meeker in a most unusual and vivid outfit—suit of bright French blue belted with a billiard green suede belt and a hat of the same bright hue. . . . There's More than One Way to Gain a Child's Obedience

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A second printing of the "Mother's and Father's Litany" is now ready. Copies may be had on receipt of address and postage.

In a recent article it was pointed out that young children do not normally switch suddenly from one occupation to another on demand. And that if you are trying to get routine things accomplished it is following a sound psychological principle to give a child some sort of warning—a little time to get used to a new idea.

To those who have never practiced this method, either because they have an intuitive understanding of children, or through accepting the advice of others who know, it may seem like a loss of time. But it isn't, in the end. Though if it were, the resulting happiness and harmony between a mother and her little children would be worth the price.

For example:

"Well, I suppose I'll have to knock this big tower down and put the blocks away and get my hands washed for supper. It's kind of a bore—but I don't mind so much. My mother will help me and I'll climb up on the little step she got just for me, and I'll make great big suds, and my mother'll pin a big bath towel around my tummy, and she'll see funny little things to me, and maybe daddy will come in while my mother is washing my face, and maybe daddy will say, 'Shave the monkey'—and—well, it isn't so bad—washing hands. Now, the blocks are all put away."

So might the unconscious thinking of a small son or daughter run on, when asked to leave an enthralling play for an uninteresting performance like handwashing and face washing.

If his reaction to the request were like that, it would only be because his mother or nurse had, by the magic of her personality and the quality of an understanding heart, invested routine or mechanical acts with fun, or interest, or just warm humanness.

No businesslike, strictly utilitarian approach gets you very far in dealing with little children. Life holds no abstractions for them. Everything is concrete and they can't be expected to be amenable to the mechanics of life unless you surround those mechanics with pleasantness, or fun. Be so jolly and reasonable and agreeable with your children that they will want to comply. After a while they will have developed the habit of complying.

Still later on they will have accepted certain routines, and certain acts will have become habitual. But not while they're little.

Food Talk

"I had some cooking wine given to me recently and I don't know what to do with it," writes Mrs. H. I. Mrs. V. B., who had some sweet wine given her, has been trying to use it in cooking, but has found it satisfactory only in some à la Newburg arrangement.

Since these requests are similar, I shall answer them jointly. I assume that the wine Mrs. V. B. has been using is beverage wine. The chief difference between cooking wine and beverage wine is that the former contains salt which makes its use as a drink impossible. So any food flavored with cooking wine requires less salt than one flavored with beverage wine.

The taste of a number of foods is really enhanced by the addition of a wine flavor, but some in which it is used would be better without it. Wine flavor is especially desirable in desserts like fruit cake of either the loaf or cup variety. In gelatin desserts—bavarians, puddings, ice creams, and in confectionery a wine flavor has its place. But it should always harmonize in flavor with the other constituents. For example, a sherry flavor will not always substitute for a port flavor. Use Bercy in fish combinations and use port flavors for desserts.

Many fish and poultry combinations, such as lobster mousse, creole shrimp, crab à la Newburg, oyster patties, and chicken croquettes are improved with wine flavor. Many foreign cooks use wine on fruits such as raspberries and strawberries. This does not appeal to the American palate. The flavor of such fruits cannot be improved upon in our estimation.

SHERRY EGG SAUCE.

4 tablespoons butter
1 egg
7 teaspoons sweet sherry

Cream the sugar and butter. Add the yolk of the egg, the wine, and the brandy, and last the beaten egg white. Place the bowl in which the sauce has been stirred in a dish of boiling water. Add 2 tablespoons of boiling water and stir 2 minutes.

FROZEN CHARLOTTE.

¼ oz. gelatin dissolved in cold water
1 cup shaved pecans
Wine flavor
Sweet sauterne or sweet sherry
1 pint of whipping cream
¼ cup powdered sugar
½ lb. fresh lady fingers
Whole peeled peaches which have been cooked in sirup and chilled
A custard sauce

Dissolve the gelatin by soaking it in ¼ cup of cold water and standing the cup in hot water. Shave the nuts and season them with the wine flavor. Whip the cream and add the sugar. Add the nuts and fold in the gelatin. Line the sides of a round or square mold with lady fingers. Stir the cream to see if the gelatin is properly distributed; then put it into the mold without further stirring. Pack in ice and salt for about 4 hours. Unmold on an inverted plate placed on a larger plate. Decorate the top with a little of the whipped cream reserved for the purpose. Place around the mold whole chilled peaches and pour over them a thick boiled custard.

LOBSTER A LA NEWBURG

2 medium sized lobsters
2 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon paprika
Pepper and salt to taste
3 tablespoons flour
1 pint cream
Yolks of two boiled eggs
Bercy win flavor

After the lobsters are boiled crack them and remove all the meat. Cut the meat into small pieces. Put the pieces into a double boiler with the butter and seasoning. Allow the butter to melt. Then sprinkle in the flour slowly, stirring continually. When it is smooth and thick slowly add the cream into which the eggs have been chopped. Cook for about 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add the sherry just before serving. Serve with buttered toast.

Impossible with Ordinary Brushing

Now—you can have gleaming white teeth in just a few days. Science has discovered the way to remove ugly yellow and stain—whiten teeth 3 shades in 3 days! It is called the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique. Try it—use a half-inch of this scientific dental cream on a dry brush twice a day. You'll see a marked change overnight.

When Kolynos enters the mouth it instantly becomes a refreshing FOAM. This FOAM does the work. First it removes yellow and stain and destroys the millions of mouth-germs—190 million in 15 seconds—that cause most tooth and gum troubles. It stimulates the gums and purifies the mouth. Then it CLEANS TEETH RIGHT DOWN TO THE BEAUTIFUL, NATURAL WHITE ENAMEL WITHOUT INJURY. No ordinary brushing can make teeth so white. No mouthwash can give the mouth a cleaner taste.

Why have dull, yellow teeth? Clean them sparkling white and keep them sound and free from decay this way. Start using the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique. Results overnight. Buy a tube of Kolynos.

CUBS BEAT GIANTS, 8-3; 30,000 SIT IN RAIN

SENATORS BEAT SOX, 8-1; LYONS LASTS 3 INNINGS

Brown Holds Hose to Four Hits.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 7.—The leading Senators lost no time this afternoon revealing to 11,000 spectators that they could beat Ted Lyons. They scored two runs in each of the first three innings, thereby knocking Ted out of the game, and at the same time erasing whatever hopes the White Sox entertained of capturing the second of the series. After Lyons had departed a few other things happened to Jim Moore and the first score was 5 to 1.

The Sox spent about half the afternoon before giving any indication that they didn't intend to be the victims of a no hit performance. For four innings they didn't even get a man to base against Lloyd Brown's southpaw pitching, and the perfect string continued until two were out in the fifth. Then Bill Cissell broke it with a long drive which hopped off Heinie Manush's glove. The Sox collected three more hits, two of which were good in the ninth for their only run.

Umpire Causes Lu Blue.

As a bit of side play for the affair which will go one sided score and Brown's steady pitching, was slightly monotonous, Lu Blue was thrown out of the game. He did it in a gentlemanly manner. Irked by a third strike called on him in the sixth, Blue gently tossed his bat high in the air. Umpire Owens watched the bat go up and he watched it come down. Then he pointed to the exit and Blue went right through it without having a word to say what he was thinking. Fonseca played first for the remainder of the contest and Kerr did it at second.

Lyons put Myer out in the first inning before things began to cloud up. Manush started it with a triple between Fothergill and Eichrodt. Cronin's slight error scored him. A wild pitch put Cronin on second. Harris was tossed out, but West posted a hit into center and Cronin scored.

The next pair of runs in the second hardly could be charged against Lyons. Bluege opened the inning with a bunt to Jeffries and the young man, after taking careful aim, threw the ball to the grandstand. Bluege went to second on the error. After Sweeney died to left Brown got a bit to center. Eichrodt dashed over to put in front of the ball, but he dropped and it went past him for a triple, Bluege scoring. Brown ran over the plate on Myer's long fly to Fothergill.

West Triples in Third.

Harris' single to center with one out was the first of Lyons' troubles in the third. The next thing was a drive to right by West. It bounced around in the corner long enough to let Harris score and put West on third. Kuhel popped out, but Bluege singled between Jeffries and Cissell to score West.

The Senators scored in the seventh on Manush's double and Cissell's wild throw on Cronin's bounder. In the eighth Kuhel tripled and came home on Spencer's fly to Fothergill.

The scoring of the Sox run in the ninth naturally caused no excitement. Bluege made it possible by batting for Moore and hitting a double over the center fielder's head. Kerr fouled out and Reynolds, batting for Watwood, went to first when Cronin fumbled a grounder. Henline, who had gone to third on Cronin's error, scored on Fothergill's fly.

Tommy Thomas will work tomorrow against Bob Burke, the Joliet hurler.

Irish Gaelic Team Scores 4th Victory

The Kerry county, Ireland, gaelic football championship team scored its fourth victory of the United States tour yesterday by defeating a team from the Midwest Gaelic Athletic association. With rain falling throughout the game, the Irish squad ran up and down the muddy turf of Comiskey park to win, 13 to 2.

Capt. John Joseph Sheehy, who has been the leading scorer in his team's American victories, kicked only a point goal, but his passing enabled the victors to score several times.

The Chicago team, bolstered by two players from St. Louis and Detroit, scored its only points in the first period. John Stenson booted the ball between the posts for a one point goal a few minutes after the game started. Goals by Sweeney and Gainey of the Irish team followed. Noone's kick gave Chicago its second point and the half ended with the visitors leading 9 to 2.

Sweeney and Gainey scored again in the final half. A kick by Sweeney went past Bob Moriarty, Chicago goalkeeper, and with ten minutes left to play, Gainey scored two one point goals. Sweeney's high kick gave the Irish team another point as the game ended.

177 TEE OFF IN OPEN TRIALS AT MEDINAH TODAY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

One hundred and seventy-seven amateurs and professionals of the Chicago district will play today at the Medinah Country club in 36 holes of qualifying competition for the national open golf tournament. The fifteen players who have the lowest medal scores at the conclusion of the trial round will win the right to represent this section in the 72 hole championship play at the Inverness Golf club, Toledo, O., on July 2, 3, and 4.

AL ESPINOSA.

Simultaneously, in nineteen other districts throughout the United States, qualifying rounds will be played to reduce the national entry list of 1,150 golfers to 97. This number, together with the 53 exempt players who will not be required to play today, will constitute the field of 150 which will battle at Inverness next month.

New York Second on List.

As was the case last year, Chicago leads the country in the number of entries and also in the number of qualifying berths allotted. New York is second with 154 entries and 13 places to be won. Qualifying rounds in other districts will be played today at Rye, N. Y.; Oakmont, Pa.; Youngstown, O.; Birmingham, Mich.; Philadelphia, Pa.; St. Louis, Mo.; Cincinnati, O.; Wayland, Mass.; St. Paul, Minn.; Clarence, N. Y.; Dallas, Tex.; Richmond, Va.; Kansas City, Mo.; San Francisco, Cal.; Denver, Colo.; Reseda, Cal.; Eastlake, Ga.; Omaha, Neb., and Seattle, Wash.

The list of exempt players includes the leaders in the British open tournament played over the windswept course at Carnoustie, Scotland, last week. Among these are Tommy Armour, the new champion; Jose Jurado, the little Argentine golfer who finished second; Horton Smith, Gene Sarazan, Johnny Farrell, and MacDonald Smith, as well as members of the British Ryder Cup team. Three Chicago district golfers who will not be forced to play today because of their showing at Interlachen last year are Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, George Smith of Onwentsia, and Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr.

Play on Two Courses.

The Chicago district qualifying round today will be played over the No. 1 and No. 3 courses at Medinah. The number of places to be won may be raised to 16 or 17 in the event of ties for the fifteenth berth. With the inclusion of the exempt trio the Chicago area is assured of eighteen representatives at Inverness.

Tom Berry of Medinah, Art Sweet of Ridgemoor, and Walt Reusch of Evanston will compose the first three-

If People Want to Go to the Dogs, It's Their Own Party

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 7.—Mr. Eddie Roberts, whom I have known here and there for ten years and more, always finding him engaged in one thing or another, but always hustling for a few dollars, has opened a park on Long Island where, until further notice, the racing greyhound, which has a receding profile, like that of the German crown prince, and almost no brain pan, will chase the mock rabbit around a circle.

The patrons will wager small amounts on the dog races, just as the patrons of the neighboring horse tracks wager larger amounts on the horses, and I anticipate that in a very short time somebody claiming to represent eighteen or twenty million American wives and mothers will be calling on the sheriff and prosecutor and demanding that they put a stop to this on the ground that the dog races are nothing but a gambling device, as of course they are.

Dogs Likely to Be Stopped.

It is quite likely that the dog races will be stopped, because public opinion seems to have decided, and certain legislatures have definitely held, that if gambling is a moral wrong, except on the part of the well to do, the dog race is the poor man's horse race and it is, therefore, an evil device. But the horse race, which is the same device except that the horses carry jockeys, and conducted for exactly the same purpose, is the sport of kings.

It is often argued that horse racing is primarily intended to improve the breed of horses, but Exterminator, one of the greatest race horses of the present generation, has no hope of posterity. But that lip spiel is like the vow of the American citizen when he goes to get a passport with Scotch on his breath and swears to maintain the United States constitution, including the amendments, without mental reservations, so help him.

Get By in Some States.

In states which permit horse racing, and even participate in the profits of horse race gambling, it is forbidden to conduct greyhound races or permitted to do so only by the connivance or malfeasance of the local authorities. I do not believe any state in the Union permits dog races by law, nor do I argue that any state should, considering that the dog tracks, with no exception that I have ever seen proved, are conducted by racketeers of the most unscrupulous character. In the present instance I have no idea that Mr. Eddie Roberts is conducting the dog meet for himself alone. There must be a mob somewhere in back of him, and if there isn't just now he may be quite certain that as soon as the dog track begins to show a profit somebody will call on him and say: "Meet your new partner, Mr. Roberts."

I would not contend that horse racing should be stopped merely because it is a gambling device, nor even because some of the tracks and some of the so-called stables are operated by persons of notorious reputation, as nobody will deny; but I have noticed that nowhere in sport in this country is class discrimination so sharp as in the matter of gambling.

At Mr. Roberts' dog track the public is forbidden to make any wager on the outcome of any race, but if there were no bookmakers present to take bets by the so-called oral system there would be no interest in races and the customers would not come.

Betting Open at Belmont.

Similarly at Belmont Park, not far from Mr. Roberts' dog track, the public is forbidden to wager on any race, and, similarly, the bookmakers occupy their daily stands, taking bets by the so-called oral system, to maintain the customers' interest. In fact, the bookmakers at the horse tracks in New York pay a daily royalty, or license fee, and any one who does not believe this need only take up a stand and try to accept bets on the oral system without first making the necessary arrangements.

Certain elements of the press are guilty of a certain knee bending toward famous gentlemen in the horse racing business whose only apparent distinction is that they have inherited a lot of money, and you will notice, if you will take sufficient interest to read the horse track columns carefully, that when a man has a million dollars or more he is invariably "Mr." So and So, whereas all others below the rank of millionaire are simply Joe or Eddie or Smith. I would give something for the movie and talkie rights to the sport editors' reaction if one of the turf writers of one of our more class conscious journals should ever turn in a sheet of copy referring to a great patron of the turf throughout simply by his first name or his last.

There is a rather childlike faith running through the news of the turf in the taken-for-granted integrity

ROBINS UPSET CARDINALS, 6-4; THEN LOSE, 9-0

St. Louis, Mo., June 7.—(AP)—The Cardinals lost a half game of their National league lead by splitting a double header with Brooklyn here today, while the Chicago Cubs by defeating the Giants, went into second place, four games behind the leaders. Wild Bill Hallahan shut Brooklyn out in the second game, 9 to 0, after Burleigh Grimes allowed ten hits and six runs in five innings and the Robins took the first game, 6 to 4. It was Hallahan's fist shutout and his seventh victory.

DAZZY VANCE.

Sending Lopez to bat in the first inning of the opening game when Lombardi had been announced as the catcher cost the Robins $25 "for failure to report a substitution." Manager Gabby Street had protested when Lopez went to bat and was overruled, only to renew the complaint after Lopez singled, with the result Lombardi's name appeared in the box score, although he took no part. Badgers Reach Poughkeepsie; Row Six Miles

Highland, N. Y., June 7.—[Special.]—The University of Wisconsin crew arrived at Poughkeepsie today to begin final training for the intercollegiate rowing regatta on June 16. Despite a fine drizzle, the Badgers were on the water within two hours of their arrival and took a six mile workout.

The three miles up the river and back to the boathouse were done under wraps and aimed largely at taking the kinks out of their muscles after the long train ride from Madison. The program starting tomorrow morning, however, and continuing for the next nine days before the race calls for two stiff practices a day, one each in the morning and afternoon, the exact time depending upon river conditions.

Although Columbia has been here for ten days and California and Syracuse since last Wednesday, the Badgers are starting even with Navy and Penn, who arrived today, and slightly ahead of Washington, Cornell, and M. I. T., who are not due until Tuesday. Washington and Wisconsin are again sharing their boathouse, with California's Golden Bears quartered next door. M. I. T. is the only crew on the Poughkeepsie side of the river, Penn, Columbia, Cornell and Syracuse completing the list of crews on the Highland, or west bank.

RAIN POSTPONES GERMAN DAY; TO BE HELD SUNDAY

German day, which was to have been celebrated yesterday at Soldiers' field, was postponed because of rain. According to Leopold Saltiel, president of the Illinois Turnbezirk, the celebration will be held next Sunday.

BRUINS CROWD HEROICS OF NINE INNINGS INTO SIX

Wilson, Hornsby Hit Home Runs.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

An estimated 80,000,000 gallons of rain which fell on Wrigley field yesterday afternoon didn't in the least dampen the zeal of our Cubs in the joyous task of whipping the New York Giants. Operating in a constant splash of the elements, the Chicagoans took the second of the series from the New Yorkers, 8 to 3, in a game that was called in the sixth.

HACK WILSON.

More than 30,000 sat through the contest and seemed willing to stick for at least three more innings. But Umpire Ernie Quigley's brand new correspondence uniform was shrinking to the danger point, causing him to call a halt with Hack Wilson at bat and Stephenson on base in the last of the sixth. The game had been started in the rain, and the downfall was constant through every inning and during the customary half hour wait before official abandonment of the contest.

Wilson Has Profitable Day.

Although it was a bobtailed enterprise, more than the usual amount of Cub valor was displayed, as witness the fact, among other things, that Manager Hornsby knocked his No. 8 homer with two on in the fourth to put the Cubs in the lead and Hack Wilson rapped out his No. 4 homer in the fifth to give him a record of a walk, a double and a homer in three trips to the plate. Hornsby also had a perfect day with a walk, a single and his homer until he went to bat and furnished the one put out in the curtailed sixth.

In addition to the two home run smackers, Kiki Cuyler again qualified as a hero with a double, two singles and two runs to continue the batting orgy he has been on since the club returned home. During the home stay there hasn't been a game in which Ki hasn't had two or more hits.

Get Even with Giants.

The outburst of the Cubs against Freddie Fitzsimmons, who was so cruel to them on May 10 in New York, gave them unshared possession of second place in the National league and enabled them to gain on the leading St. Louis Cardinals.

It was the eleventh win for the Cubs in the last 14 games, as contrasted with the showing of the Giants, who have lost 5 out of 6 on their western trip and seven of their last nine games. Yesterday's outcome evened the season series between the Cubs and Giants at two each.

The teams will play the third of their series today. Malone probably will pitch for the Cubs and Mitchell for New York.

Cuyler Scores in First.

The Cubs didn't monkey around much in getting their offensive under way, for Cuyler led with a double after which English sacrificed. Woody's bunt got past Vergez, and while the young third baseman was pounding his glove in deep chagrin, our fleet Mr. Cuyler dashed on home. Hornsby walked and he and English moved up on Stephenson's sacrifice. A walk to Wilson filled the bases but Hemsley fanned and Fitzsimmons threw out Jurges.

The Cubs' next run came in the

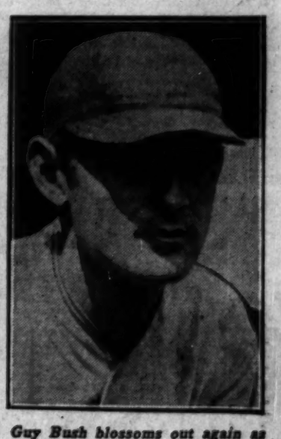
BASEBALLING IN THE RAIN—30,000 CUBS' FANS CAN'T BE WRONG

Kiki Cuyler continues his batting spree by getting three more hits in three against Giants.

Terry slides under Hemsley for the first Giant run in the fourth inning of the rainy day game at Wrigley field. This and subsequent happenings in the inning gave New York a 3-2 lead, which the Cubs quickly nullified. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

One hardly would suspect there'd be 30,000 at a Cubs' game on a rainy day, and they all stayed to the finish. Box seat holders were drenched, but many brought umbrellas, so it wasn't so bad. Bleacheritas, accustomed to a sun bath, didn't mind the drizzle either.



Guy Bush blossoms out again as a starting pitcher, subduing the Giants in all but one inning.

YANKEES DOWN INDIANS, 5 TO 1; 5TH FOR GOMEZ

Rookie Left Hander Allows Six Hits.

New York, June 7.—(AP)—The Yankees played like champions today behind the six-hit pitching of Vernon Gomez, recruit left hander, and defeated the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 1, to even the series. It was Gomez' fifth straight victory. Joe Vosmik scored the only Cleveland run in the fourth on his single, and singles by Kamm and Luke Sewell.

The Yankees got a run in the second on Chapman's single and steal and a double by Dickey, and added three more to their total when Ruth doubled with two on in the fifth and scored on infield outs. The Babe batted the last Yank run in the seventh with a single. Score:

Boston, Mass., June 7.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox went on a batting spree today and beat the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 3. The winners made 14 hits. Sweeney had a perfect day at bat with two singles, a double, and a triple and, in addition, stole a base. Webb starred in the field and at bat. ATHLETICS SWAMP TIGERS, 12-2.

Detroit, Mich., June 7.—(AP)—The champion Athletics defeated the Detroit Tigers, 12 to 2, in a single game series here today, but it was not the one sided victory the score would indicate. The Tigers got 10 men to first, 10 of them on hits off Mahaffey, and threatened to make some kind of a record by marooning 18 men on bases.

The Athletics collected 15 safeties off Sorrell and Sullivan, who relieved him in the sixth. Foxx hit a homer in the fourth, with one on, and Miller hit for the circuit in the fifth with two on.

of men who are merely so rich that the paltry winnings from a horse track gambling coup cannot possibly interest them. Integrity is as integrity does. A man with a one horse stable may scorn to drop a lead slug in a subway turnstile but respond to the chance of putting something over in a race. A great patron of the turf, in his turn, would never rig a horse race, but poor men never rig the stock market.

Prime Minister Disturbed.

Anyway, what is the point at which one ceases to be a plain Joe or Eddie or Smith in this democracy and become invariably "Mr."?

In England last week the prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, was seriously put out because the people, whose choice he is, had gambled some 20 million dollars on the Irish, the Calcutta, and the stock exchange pools on the Epsom Derby. By some kind whim of fortune the great prizes of these gambling pools have been falling to poor tinkers, bartenders, and pensioners in the last few years, but even this happy circumstance did not mitigate Mr. MacDonald's dismay that the common citizen should invest so much in a gambling operation.

Yet, I seriously doubt that the grand total of all the public pools on the Epsom Derby and the Grand National, the two great gambling races of the English season, compares with the gambling account on stocks.

Conceding that gambling is immoral, is it, then, that the poor should be denied the pleasure of going to hell in the company of their betters?

third just before a panicky double play that looked most serious when it was executed. Hornsby singled with one out and stopped at second on Stephenson's single to right. Then up comes Mr. Hack with a double to right.

Figuring that Lindstrom might make a miracle catch, Hornsby and Stephenson didn't do much running until the ball hit the ground. Rog got home easily, but Stevie pulled up at third. Hemsley tapped to Fitzsimmons and Fitz, not content to make one quick putout, held the ball until Stevie and Hack could get thoroughly confused. Then both were retired in a double run down play.

Fitzsimmons Hits Triple.

The Giants momentarily took the lead in the fourth mostly because of Fitzsimmons' triple with two on and two out. Terry opened up the fourth with a single to left, and after Ott had filed to Cuyler, went to third on Jackson's single to right, whence he scored when Vergez scratch a single off Bush's glove. O'Farrell popped to English to supply the second out, but Fitzsimmons sent a long fly over Wilson's head for a triple, scoring Jackson and Vergez. Critz ended the inning with a fly to Cuyler.

It didn't take very long for the Cubs to correct that 3 to 2 advantage enjoyed by the Giants. In the last of the fourth the Cubs marked up five runs, the first of which was scored around after two were out.

Bush's Hit Starts It.

Bush, vicious hitter that he is, whanged a line single to right after Jurges and Grimm had been retired and advanced a base on the second of Cuyler's series of hits. Bush singled to center, putting over Rog with the tying run. Cuyler pulled up at third. It was at this point that Hornsby knocked his No. 1 home, driving in Cuyler and English after of him. Stephenson filed to Lindstrom for the third out.

Fitzsimmons went away in the fifth. The banishment came when Hemsley knocked out that No. 4 homer. Bonnell came in after Hack had tripled up at the plate and forthwith was attacked for one run on his own. Bonnell fanned Hemsley as his first out, but singles by Jurges, Grimm and Cuyler put over the Cubs' eighth and final run.

DAY and NIGHT 133,000 POLICE MEN (IN THE U.S.A.) stand between you and trouble!

Good? Of course they're good. If they weren't—well, ship them all off to Greenland and see what would happen back home. Yes, these big boys are long on courage—and resourcefulness, too. Give them a "hand," everybody! They're always ready to lend you one.

Shiny silver buttons don't make a good officer. Or glittering promises a good cigarette.

Under CHESTERFIELD'S white jacket of pure French cigarette paper is a milder, better-tasting smoke—and it's what's "under the jacket" that counts.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder—smoke as many as you like. CHESTERFIELDS taste better—you know that the minute you light up!

PACIFIC COAST HAS BEST CROP OF TRACK STARS

Gate Appeal Greater in Far West.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The west coast of the United States is supreme on track and field. Results at the eastern intercollegiate meet at Pennsylvania and the national collegiate meet concluded Saturday at Stagg field offer inescapable proof of this contention.

Consequently the decision of the heads of the I. C. A. A. A. A. to send their meet to the coast in 1932 for the first time in more than fifty years of its existence is appropriate. However, the large guarantee for expenses and the support which track has from the public in California probably are some important reasons.

It might also be acceptable to combine the national collegiate meet, now ten years old, with the eastern meet except that such a proposal would be a blow to the long continued efforts of the directors of the National Collegiate Athletic association, who have tried to revive Chicago's interest in track.

Did Not Support Meet.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the managing committee of A. A. Stagg, chairman, Maj. John J. Griffith, and T. E. Jones, Chicago has not supported its national competition. Inclement weather Saturday kept the crowd at less than 2,000. In other years, with real record holders in the meet, receipts never have been more than approximately $3,000.

Western athletes always have been willing to visit all sections of the country to prove their supremacy. Southern California has successive victories in both the eastern and national meets. In ten years of competition west coast universities have won six championships at Stagg field. The Trojans scored number three last Saturday, while Stanford has two victories and California one.

West Takes Lead.

Combining results in the fifteen events in the eastern and national meets this year the score by sections of the country reads: West, 8; Central States, 2 and 2 ties; East, 2 and 2 ties; South, none.

The details of the college records in the two meets by sections of the country follow:

WEST.

EVENT.	WINNER.	RECORD.
100-yd. dash	Wykoff [S.Cal.]	:09.6
220-yd. dash	Wykoff [S.Cal.]	:21.4

440-yd. run	Lewis [Chgo.]	1:53.8

TIES.

Pole vault—Nelson [Iowa State], and Sidwell [Harvard] 14-2
120-yard hurdles—Keller [Ohio], and Sweet [Harvard] ..... :14.6

If Leo Sentman of Illinois, who won the Big Ten high hurdles in 14 4-10 seconds, tying the world record, had chosen to compete in the meet Saturday, the central states might have added a victory. Sentman defeated Keller in the conference meet.

Best O'Connor's Record.

Darrell Jones of Ball State Teachers college, Muncie, Ind., winner in the high jump in the N. C. A. A. with a leap of 6 feet 6⅝ inches, has jumped higher than O'Connor's mark at Pennsylvania. Gordon of Iowa, N. C. A. A. broad jump champion, defeated Barker at Stagg field and has a mark of 25 feet 4½ inches.

Gallant Knight, the Conquered Hero, at Homewood Today

BY FRENCH LANE.

It will be a rather dejected Gallant Knight which steps off the cars at Washington Park today from New York. And most likely both the Knight and his trainer, Kay Spence, will be in bad temper.

For they went to New York to clean up the easterners last week and win the year's turf handicap championship in the Suburban at Belmont. Then could there be a greater disaster than getting left at the post? But that's what happened to Gallant Knight, and here he is due in Chicago today to await another brush with Questionnaire, Mokatam, and the other easterners the Knight trailed home after he had been left at the post.

Because Gallant Knight was left behind in the Suburban, the chase for the title among the older horses is just as muddled as ever. Gallant Knight's claim to the crown is just as strong as the claims of any of the contenders. He no doubt will get a crack at Mokatam and Questionnaire at Arlington and he ought to be mad enough by that time to gallop out and crack another world's record. In the meantime he's going to try and thrash the western handicappers again in the renewal of the Peabody Memorial Handicap at Washington Park.

Have a first hand report of how some of the bookmakers treated their public at the running of the English Derby at Epsom last week. More than fifty of them were unable to pay off, for they had accepted thousands of pounds on Cameronian, the favorite. They fled from the Downs when they saw Cameronian galloping home in front. Only a few were apprehended by the police.

One gang put over something new. They stationed themselves in the infield and rigged up a fake totalisator in which many thousands of dollars in bets were placed. They escaped with all the money during the excitement of the race.

Try to imagine somebody opening up a few phoney mutuel windows on a big day at one of our Chicago tracks and getting away with it.

If Supt. Tom Young could get the Washington Park racing strip in good condition for today's program, the western 2 year old title situation might be fairly well cleared up after the Forest Park purse is run. Some of the west's best juveniles were named in the overnight entries for this 5½ furlong dash. They include Charles Fisher's Easter Time and Band Time, the crack Kentucky youngster, Tellico, disqualified after he had won a race at Washington Park last week, and Indian Runner, from Hal Price Headley's stable, which has three straight victories to his credit. It is the first time this year these star youngsters have hooked up.

The long awaited struggle between Twenty Grand, the record smashing Kentucky Derby winner, and Jamestown, the champion 2 year old of last season, will take place in the running of the Belmont Stakes in New York on Saturday.

New Yorkers, a week before the race, are of the opinion that Jamestown will win. Westerners, who watched Twenty Grand's Derby victory, don't believe there is a colt in the country that can take Twenty Grand's measure.

The Belmont is at a mile and a half, and regardless of the outcome, it is expected that Twenty Grand will move west soon after its running to take part in the American Derby here on June 20. He won't have Jamestown to bother with in the American Derby, but gets another crack at him in the Arlington Classic on July 18. After the next three big 3 year old specials are run, the championship should be pretty well determined.

Rosenbloom Signs to Fight on Mills Card

Promoter Jim Mullen yesterday signed the two ten round bouts that will headline his opening outdoor boxing show at Mills Stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue, Thursday night, in place of the feature between Jackie Fields and Relampago Saguero.

Maxie Rosenbloom, former light heavyweight champion, will meet Tony Cancela of Tampa, Fla., in one of the ten round features.

The weight for the match will be 177 pounds, two notches over the poundage of the light heavy championship, which Rosenbloom held until the other day, when the National Boxing association vacated Maxie's title claim.

Tug Phillips, Pittsburgh, Pa., welterweight, will replace Fields against Saguero, Cuban 147 pounder, in the other ten round bout.

Wins 31 Straight.

Phillips, who compiled a streak of 31 victories in as many starts during 1929 and 1930, was signed to face Saguero when it was learned that Fields broke his hand in a sparring session last Friday.

Phillips will arrive here from Pittsburgh Wednesday morning.

An eight rounder, a six, and three fours are scheduled.

Billy Papke Jr. of California, son of the former middleweight champion, will face Edgar Norman, Norwegian light heavy champion, in the eight rounder at 175 pounds.

Justo Fights Horner.

Pep Justo, Madison, Wis., youngster, will seek his fifteenth win in 15 Chicago bouts against Jackie Horner, St. Louis, Mo., boxer, in a six rounder at 154 pounds.

The three four-rounders will bring into action the following boxers:

Les Finnucane and Bill Baker.
Billy Gladstone and Bobby Stewart.
Mickey Joy and Don McLeod.

PERKINS TAKES LONG ISLAND GOLF TITLE, 2-1

Great River, L. I., June 7.—[Special.]—After a reign of two years, Eddie Driggs, who up to today served the Long Island Golf association in the dual capacity of champion and president, was shorn of his golf title by T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion and rapidly becoming one of the outstanding golfers in America.

After a tense match that arose to heights of great brilliance, Perkins gained his first major American victory on the thirty-fifth hole, his winning margin being 2 and 1.

Los Angeles Heavy and SouthAfrican Champ Draw

CAPETOWN, South Africa, June 7.—(AP)—Joe Woods, Los Angeles heavyweight, and Donald McCorkindale, South African champion, fought 12 rounds to a draw here last night. The crowd booed the referee's decision, evidently believing the South African had won. Some ringside critics gave McCorkindale nine of the 12 rounds.

FISHERS! HERE IS CHICAGOLAND SCHEDULE FOR '31

Illinois Bass Season to Open June 15.

BY BOB BECKER.

Mr. Fisherman, here is your complete schedule on fishing seasons in Illinois and nearby states. You can paste it in your tackle box for future reference.

In Illinois the bass season will open June 15. It is legal to catch pike, pickerel and other game fish right now because our state laws are rather lenient, what with the open season on pike and pickerel starting May 1. A black bass must be ten inches long to be legal and ten per day is the limit.

The Wisconsin bass season will open June 20. The ten inch limit also prevails in Wisconsin and ten per day is the limit. Pike, pickerel and muskie season opened May 25.

Michigan Lid Off June 25.

Michigan opens its black bass season five days later than Wisconsin, June 25, with ten inch size limit, but only five per day. Calico, rock, and white bass and bluegills and sunfish also may be taken beginning June 25. Pike and pickerel season opened some weeks ago. A nonresident license costs $3 [same as Wisconsin].

Indiana has an open black bass season beginning June 16. This state has a small bag limit compared to Wisconsin because you can take just six bass per day, including the white variety. The size limit on small and large mouths is 11 inches, instead of 10 as is the case in most states. The June 16 date also goes for pike and pickerel, rock bass, crappies, bluegills and perch. In other words, the 16th of June is the big day in Indiana and a nonresident license costs $2.25.

Two Minnesota Zones.

Minnesota has two zones for fishing. In the northern zone the season for bass [all kinds] and crappies does not open until June 21 because the spawning season is late in the north. In the southern part of the state bass fishing started May 29. Pike, pickerel and muskie season started in May. A Minnesota nonresident fishing license costs $3 and one can ship eight pounds of fish on three different occasions in the course of a season.

RUTH REGISTERS ONLY GAIN IN BIG SIX BATTING RACE

Babe Ruth rang up the only gain yesterday in the batting averages of the big six batsmen who lead the major leagues. MOVIES LATEST AID TO SCIENCE IN MENTAL CASES

Use of Pictures Shown at Meeting.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 7.—(AP)—A promising method of using movies to unravel mysteries of the brain's control over health will be shown at the American Medical association's annual convention opening here tomorrow.

The pictures are one of the new developments in medicine displayed in the scientific exhibits. They were taken during the last five years at the St. Elizabeth hospital at Washington, the government institution for the insane. Their application is not confined to insanity.

They record the peculiar facial expressions and movements of patients who later died and whose brains now reveal the reasons for the troubles. The brains are mounted under glass in such a manner that the observer sees vividly the damage that expressed itself in action in life.

By study of the pictures and the brains, physicians can recognize the earmarks of similar troubles in the living, and in some cases take action before it is too late. In other instances medicine now knows no remedy and the movies are simply a new method of scientific study.

The exhibits were developed by Walter Freeman, M. D., and Karl H. Langenstrasse, M. D. One is a case of carbon monoxide poisoning which later developed into insanity. The records indicate good possibilities of saving cases of skull fracture that develop into epilepsy, and show the difficulties facing the surgeon in attacking brain tumors.

Other cases include adult forms of St. Vitus' dance, paralysis in various forms, unrestrained crying, and the various lesions underlying epileptic convulsions and the devastating effects upon the brain of tuberculosis and syphilis.

The exhibits cover 170 separate demonstrations revealing the progress of medical research within the past year. They are presented by individual investigators, university groups, and scientific sections of the association, by public health groups interested in special diseases and by government departments in the field of health.

AUTO HITS AGED COUPLE; HUSBAND DIES, WIFE HURT

Driver Flees and Eludes Pursuit.

Herman Shober, 71 years old, an upholsterer, was killed and his wife, Sadie, was critically injured when they were struck last night by the automobile of a hit and run driver at 47th and Halsted streets. Several motorists pursued the driver, but he escaped.

The Shobers were on their way to their home at 7515 South Green street and had alighted from a west bound 47th street car. They started to cross the street to transfer to a Halsted street car. As they left the curb the machine hit them. It continued north in Halsted street. Harold Brath, 20 years old, 5531 South Ashland avenue, who witnessed the accident, took the couple in his car to the Michael Reese hospital. Shober was pronounced dead. His wife suffered internal injuries and a broken leg. She might die.

Girl Killed, Another Hurt.

This death and three others raised the 1931 cook county toll to 491.

Miss Marion Savina, 21 years old, 2507 Grenshaw street, was killed and her roommate, Rose Cohen, a divorcee, 31 years old, was probably fatally injured in an auto collision yesterday at Ridgeland avenue and 111th street, Oak Lawn. W. E. Gulke, 4412 South Wells street, escort of the girls, and Donald Tracy, 435 Hannah avenue, Forest Park, driver of the second car, fled after the accident.

The young women were found in the wreckage of the overturned cars by Arthur Simpson, a resident of Oak Lawn, as he was driving by the scene of the accident. He took both women to the St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, where Miss Savina was pronounced dead.

Gulke surrendered to the police, saying he left the scene of the accident for help and wandered about in a daze from the shock of the accident. He was released on bond. Tracy gave up last night, but was unable to make bond of $2,500.

Boy Meets Death.

Chester Borowski, 18 years old, of 3609 Colfax avenue was killed and three other youths, all 19 years old, were injured, one seriously, when their car crashed into a post at 121st street and Torrence avenue last night. The driver, Leo Kurowski, 22, 3218 Houston avenue, was unhurt. The others in the car were William Vartas, 3323 Commercial avenue; Raymond Mintecki, 3230 Commercial avenue, and James Lewandowski, 3235 Houston avenue. Vartas suffered a possible skull fracture.

Mrs. Mary Davidson, 40 years old, 5440 Kenwood avenue, suffered a possible skull fracture and her daughter, Mary Dorothy, 10 years old, was cut and bruised when Andrew Davidson, her father, lost control of his car and crashed into a tree at Dorchester avenue and the Midway last night. They were taken to the Billings Memorial hospital.

BODY IS FOUND CAUGHT IN ROCKS ON LAKE FRONT

Wedged between two massive rocks, the body of a man, dead many months, was found late yesterday at the lake end 41st street. The man had died of exposure.

The tragedy was revealed when three juvenile fishermen looked into a rocky crevice and saw the body. They notified the Hyde Park police.

Squads of firemen and policemen, working under direction of Coroner Bundesen, recovered the body after several hours work and took it to the county morgue. No marks of violence and no evidences of drowning were found.

"The man probably fell between the rocks and was pinned so tightly he could not free himself," said Coroner Bundesen. "It is evident he died of exposure and starvation."

All clothing except shreds of socks and underwear and a leather belt had disintegrated. The police believed the man had been middle aged and a fisherman.

"Selected" Milk will help your children make the grade

As the end of the school term draws near, tension increases. Children worry about passing. Nerves are a-tingle. Appetites suffer.

Mothers! Extra milk will be a big aid in this trying period, and "Selected" Milk will make the drinking of milk so inviting that each glass will be a real treat.

"Selected" is famous for its "Sweet Natural Taste." It is specially produced for drinking, on 105 picked farms near Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, where the farmers are paid a bonus for taking greater than ordinary care in the feeding, stabling and milking of the cows, and the cooling and care of the milk.

16 cents a quart is all it costs to give the milk drinkers of your family this wonderful milk . . . milk in its most attractive form. Using the coupon is a convenient way to arrange a trial of "Selected." The first glass tells the difference.

EXPECT RECORD WHEAT YIELDS IN SOUTHWEST

Drought Threatens Northwest Area.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Prospects are for record yields of wheat in the southwest and harvesting is already underway in Texas. With good weather for the next few weeks harvesting will be general.

In spring wheat sections of the northwest rain is badly needed, and unless the drought is broken in two weeks by liberal general rains the shortest crop in recent years is expected in the United States and Canada. Average crop of spring wheat in the United States is 283,000,000 bu, and in Canada, 421,000,000 bu. There are men in the trade who predict that Canada may not have over 200,000,000 bu, and the United States is expected to raise that sized crop.

Private estimates are that the winter wheat crop will be around 650,000,000 to 700,000,000 bu. Based on the low-estimate with 200,000,000 bu of spring wheat there would be 850,000,000 bu for the United States, compared with 967,000,000 bu harvested last year, and 886,000,000 bu in 1929.

Report Due Tuesday.

A government report on winter wheat, due Tuesday, is estimated to forecast 575,000,000 to 690,000,000 bu. The official estimate a month ago was 635,000,000 bu.

Latest reports from Europe are that crops are backward and that there has been a good buyer of Austrian wheat for some time past.

There is a bearish situation in winter wheat and a bullish one in spring wheat. For the next ten days to two weeks traders are inclined to go slow in making extensive commitments on either side of the market. In the meantime a nervous market is to be expected with sharp fluctuations, and sentiment is more mixed than for weeks.

Report Big Hedge Sales.

Traders await hedging pressure from the new winter wheat crop in the southwest within the next few weeks. They may be disappointed, as the impression prevails that millers will absorb a large quantity and whether they will store it or not is the problem that is confronting the trade. Mill and elevator stocks are light, and both will ultimately be replenished, but the effect on the trade is uncertain.

The government has dropped out of the cash wheat market and will hold its 50,000,000 bu or more cash wheat for a more favorable market. It is said to be making sales all the time, but no figures are given. Traders believe that new crop wheat at around cheap file in the southwest would be close to an export basis, with a possible liberal business.

Price Break, Then Rally.

Announcement of the government's intentions threw the trade into confusion with a break of 13½c in Minneapolis within about an hour, with a recovery in two days of most of the loss. In Chicago the decline was only 5c with a good rally. New wheat sold in Texas at 85c. In Chicago sales were at 97c late in the week, cash on No. 2 red for Aug. 15 to Sept. 15 shipment.

New crop futures of wheat moved within a range of about 4c for the week, with the close on July ¾c lower and the more deferred deliveries ¼ @ ½c higher. June closed at 87⅞c, July 88⅛@88⅜c, September 59¾@59¾c, and December 61¼@61⅜c. Prices for the week follow:

	July.	September.	December.
Saturday	87¾@88	60¼@62
Monday	87⅞@88⅜	60¼@61⅞
Tuesday	86¼@87⅜	59¾@61
Wednesday	86¼@86⅞	60¼@62⅛
Thursday	86¼@86⅞	60¼@62¼
Friday	87⅛@87⅝	60¾@62¾
Week	1.04¼@1.11⅝	1.15⅝@1.19⅝
Year ago	1.08@1.13	1.10 @1.14
1930 high	1.50 @1.51	1.07¾@1.08

Corn Prices Irregular.

July corn closed ½c higher at 57@57½, with other months ¼ @1c lower, December being 51⅝@52, and December 56¼@56⅜c. Trade sentiment was bearish on distant deliveries and mixed on July. There is a good sized holding of July by interests who believe that prices should be materially higher,

Urges Change in Operation of Inv. Trusts

A report recommending drastic changes in the operation of investment trusts was made public yesterday by the Investment Bankers' Association of America. Adopted at the association's May meeting in White Sulphur Springs, Va., the report stressed the necessity of "taking the public into its confidence" on the exact financial status and practices of each trust.

It specified, for the management type, that the regular reports give complete information about the financial position "as well as a clear statement of operations."

"In particular," it asserted, "the annual report should contain a complete statement of the investments held in the portfolio of the trust. Stockholders and prospective stockholders have a right to know in exactly what securities the management of the investment trust has invested its funds. In order that this may be accomplished, the list of securities should give the names and amounts of each security.

Carried at Cost.

"Securities should be carried on the balance sheet at cost, and it is recommended that costs be computed on an average basis. It is desirable that the total market value of securities be given in the report in order that stockholders may be able to determine the actual liquidating value of their shares, or preferably this liquidating value should be stated in a table supplementing the income statement.

"The amount of the unrealized losses or depreciation, if any, of the portfolio should be clearly stated. If reserves are set up against unrealized losses or for other reasons, the nature and purpose of these reserves should be indicated with a statement as to whether they were created out of income or out of surplus, either earned or paid in."

The report recommended that profits realized on the sale of securities be shown separately from other ordinary income items—"in the event, however, that the management of an investment trust includes realized profits and losses in the income account. If either of these is included, both should be included.

To Aid Uninitiated.

"These recommendations are made so that income account will not be misinterpreted by investors who are unfamiliar with accounting practices. If abnormal profits are included in the income account, it is likely that some of the stockholders or prospective stockholders will be led to believe that such gains are to be expected in the normal course of business."

The practice of investment banking institutions selling securities to the trusts they sponsor was described as "fraught with danger."

Referring to fixed trusts, the report said their descriptive circulars "should give complete information regarding the responsibility of the trustee as to the underlying shares, and in the issue of fixed trust shares themselves."

U. S. WILL CALL IN 451 MILLIONS OF SHORT NOTES

3½ Per Cent Issue to Be Retired.

Washington, D. C., June 7.—(AP)—The treasury's plan of funding its maturing debt was advanced another step today with an announcement from Secretary Mellon that all 3½ per cent treasury notes of series C, 1930-'32, have been called for redemption on Dec. 15.

The total of the outstanding notes of this issue, the secretary said, was $451,000,000 of the original $607,399,650 issued on Jan. 16, 1928.

At the same time the treasury announced that a total of $818,000,000 to $820,000,000 of the 3½ per cent treasury bonds offered for public subscription last Monday had been accepted from the $6,325,000,000 subscriptions received.

Expenditures Under Estimate.

While the treasury had a deficit of $1,068,675,335 on June 4, indications were that expenditures would not mount to the $4,345,000,000 recently estimated by President Hoover for the year. On June 4 the expenditures since last July 1 were $3,890,173,760, and it hardly seemed possible the expenditures for the remainder of the month of June would mount to $454,000,000.

While the treasury still expects that the deficit will be in the neighborhood of $900,000,000 it will require unexpected expenses to send the total disbursements for the year much above $4,000,000,000. At present, indications are that the tax collections for the month will be about $290,000,000, bringing the total collections for the fiscal year to $3,111,000,000, plus approximately $90,000,000 in interest on war debts, which debtor nations will pay on June 15 and which can be devoted to the general fund.

Foreign Nations Ask No Delay.

No hint has been received from any of the debtor nations that they would ask postponement of their payments on principal and interest which this year is $51,000,000 and $184,000,000, respectively.

The nations which owe this government war debts have the right under the refunding treaties to postpone any payment upon 90 days' notice of intention to do so. The postponement may be for two years.

Representative Ramseyer of Iowa, a ranking Republican of the last house ways and means committee, said today the United States is "several billion dollars behind" on the debt paying program laid down by congress.

In a formal statement he took exception to recent debt observations of Assistant Secretary Ballantine of the treasury and Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi.

Says Program Is Behind.

The floating debt has been paid off as was intended when the sinking fund provision was enacted in the Liberty loan act of 1919, Ramseyer said, but at that time congress intended "to retire all of the national debt in 25 years from July 1, 1920."

"Due to the foreign debt settlements in reducing or partly canceling the foreign debts, that portion of the debt has not been reduced as rapidly as 'originally contemplated' by congress," he continued, adding, "It was also contemplated by congress that the foreign nations would keep up the interest payments on what they owed us and finally pay off the principals of their debts in full."

Ten Years Ago in Finance

The first step in the United States government's plans to refinance its three billion dollars of floating indebtedness by replacing the present short term certificates of indebtedness with longer term obligations will be announced soon by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

W. B. Storey, president of the Santa Fe, expects his railroad to continue its present dividends on common and preferred stock throughout the year 1921. He said his company had devised plans by which the dividends could be continued at the expense of rigid economy in operation.

Libby, McNeill & Libby has omitted its semi-annual dividend of 50 cents a share on the $10 par stock.

The Montreal Oil company, operating in the Breckinridge [Texas] field, has been placed in the hands of a receiver.

EXPECT NEW RUSH OF DEALERS AT FURNITURE SHOW

With 3,100 buyers from retail furniture and department stores registered during the first week, the national furniture market and style show at the American Furniture Mart, 666 Lake Shore drive, goes into its second and final week this morning. Another large influx of furniture men, exceeded only by last Monday's total, is expected.

A feature of the furniture exhibition, regarded by furniture men as an encouraging sign for future business, is the almost total absence of "distress merchandise," called "close outs" by the trade . . . furniture that for one reason or another is being sold to the retail stores at cut prices. This season the great majority of the 700 companies participating in the mart show are operating on the policy of a legitimate profit on every sale, regardless of volume, and the weaker concerns have, to some extent, been eliminated.

"The recent months have been difficult ones for the industry," V. L. Alward, president of the Furniture Mart, said yesterday, "but they have not been without their benefits. The tendency of the depression has been to leave the furniture industry in stronger hands. The weaker companies have been, and are being, eliminated . . . a painful process, but a necessary one."

Quick Buying of U. S. Bonds Discloses Idle Cash Reserve

New York, June 7.—(AP)—The most significant event affecting the bond market last week was the offering and the large oversubscription of the $800,000,000 issue of treasury bonds.

The popularity of the issue was assured from the time its terms became public, but some bankers at least did not expect the subscriptions for it would exceed $6,000,000,000—evidence of the huge amount of idle funds awaiting investment.

Large blocks of certificates of indebtedness and bills mature in July and August, and it is possible the government may undertake further long term financing to provide for their redemptions. The success of last week's offering leaves no doubt that the treasury will be able to sell additional securities if the deficit makes such action necessary.

Rail Issue Coming.

Another event in which Wall street was interested was the application by the St. Louis-San Francisco railway for permission to issue $18,316,000 of bonds whose proceeds would be used for refunding maturing issues and improving the company's cash position. Some such news had been anticipated because of rising prices in the outstanding issues of this carrier of both early and distant maturities. Net gains in the road's bonds ranged upward to 10¾ points.

The movement of prices generally indicated that the preference of the investing public was still for gilt edge or at least high grade obligations. Prices advanced through the middle of the week but a subsequent reaction was sufficient to wipe out most of the gains. The high grade issues, as a rule, were steady.

U. S. Issues Gain.

The best evidence of the public preferences appeared in the action of the Liberty and treasury issues. They wavered from day to day, but the closing prices for the week revealed general, if usually small, gains. As a group these bonds are within short range of the 1931 peak levels, whereas many second grade obligations are selling at or very near their low prices for this year. The bond market nowadays is receiving a certain amount of academic attention in the hope that it will lead the way to a business recovery in the form of rising prices for second grade bonds.

Offerings of new issues reflected this preference. Of the total of $73,110,000 of new securities floated $30,000,000 were 4 per cent bonds of the Province of Ontario and $20,000,000 were debentures of the federal intermediate credit banks and $12,000,000 consisted of two short term public utility issues. Other offerings consisted of small municipal flotations. No industrial or railroad bonds were offered.

Municipal, State Issues Will Total $22,189,989

New York, June 7.—(AP)—New municipal and state financing scheduled for award this week totals only $22,189,989 and represent the needs of 64 communities, the Bond Buyer reports. The figure compares with $34,449,316 last week and the weekly average of $40,076,810 for the year to date. Among the awards scheduled are $4,000,000 veterans' welfare bonds and $202,000 state park bonds by the state of California on Thursday. The city of Paterson, N. J., is offering $1,800,000 tax revenue obligations on the same day.

TURN IN MARKET DISPELS GLOOM ON WALL STREET

Commodity Prices Reverse Trend.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 7.—In the recovery which began on the stock exchange last Wednesday and which in two days regained for the "averages" about half of the 22 per cent loss from the high point of May, there were several interesting aspects.

One was the fact that the turn came at the moment when people were saying that it would never come. Another was the instantaneous change from the previous mood of black despair, indicating that much of the community's hopeless pessimism had been inference, not from facts but from the course of stocks.

A third was the promptness with which the stock market's reversal reversed the movement of prices on markets for commodities, showing how the contagion of sentiment had been a governing force outside of the stock exchange. Yet another was the sudden appearance of a few unpredicted reassuring developments in the news, which the stock market may or may not have foreseen, showing that cheerful news is apt at such times to come when it is least expected.

Rough Places in Road.

The upturn of the week was far from meaning that our uncertainties and troubles are about to end. There will doubtless be a good many rough places in the road which must still be crossed. It was, however, in its suddenness, its scope and the incidents which surrounded it, a symbol of the complete and basic change for the better which will eventually come in the economic situation as a whole and which will come, as it came in 1922 and 1909 and 1896, at a moment when the people had practically ceased to predict it.

No one familiar with those occasions is likely to forget how even the character of the day to day news seemed suddenly to reverse itself on such occasions as if the cheerful developments had all kept back until they could crowd almost simultaneously into the public view.

REGULAR MEMBER CHICAGO CLEARING HOUSE

the "shrinkage probabilities" dropped from 23% to 6%

IT seemed exorbitant—23% of the entire estate at the time of its transfer to the heirs, to be consumed for taxes, probate and administration.

Yet under the transfer arrangement then in effect, such a "shrinkage" could not be avoided.

What could be done to lower these costs? What savings were open to the owner of this $500,000 estate?

The needs of the family, the facts about the securities and real estate involved, were outlined to one of the officers of The Northern Trust Company. His suggestions were embodied in a specially prepared Northern Trust Plan. After careful consideration by the estate owner and his attorney, this plan was put into effect.

Shrinkage probabilities dropped from 23% to 6%. The heirs will benefit by a net saving of $85,000. Other important advantages, both to the estate owner and his family, will be realized.

In Cook and Lake Counties, "shrinkage" in the half million dollar estate may average 18% to 20%. It is one of the purposes of each Northern Trust Plan to arrange for every legitimate saving in these costs. Under such an individualized Plan, economies comparable to that above are often possible.

You are invited to write for the new booklet pictured above, which explains the benefits of a Northern Trust Plan. Come into the Trust Department, or phone for an experienced Northern Trust representative to call at your office or home. An interview will place you under no obligation.

TURN IN MARKET DISPELS GLOOM ON WALL STREET

been disputing the question, how far the present period of business depression is a direct result of the Wall street crash of October, 1929, and of the practices which caused that memorable crisis, and how far its causes lie outside and beyond the episode in Wall street. Some of the disputants have been inclined to place the chief blame on the American speculation and its consequences.

Overlooks Special Causes.

This contention doubtless overlooks the character and special causes for the reaction in Europe and other foreign continents; notably the fall in staple prices, with the resultant distress and political discontent. Still, in the longer retrospect in which we are beginning to see the origins of the drastic readjustment since the end of 1929, some reasons can be discerned for assigning a good part of the blame, at least for the particular character of the economic strain, to this country's ill fated speculative orgy.

In such world-wide panics as those of 1893 and 1893 the financial and industrial structure of the powerful foreign creditor countries—England notably—was not severely shaken; the foreign markets were therefore shortly able to give effective relief to debtor countries which had been harder hit. This office was performed by the United States in behalf of shaken financial and industrial Europe, after 1921. But the double mischief done by America's blowing of its unprecedented speculative bubble during the two years before the crash of 1929 was first that, in order to conduct that wild inflation of values in its later stages, European markets were fairly stripped of capital; second, that the normal outflow of American capital to foreign markets had been stopped before the Wall street panic by its diversion into purely home promotion and speculation, and was not renewed after 1929 because of the heavy losses incurred in America itself.

Has Speculative Losses.

What would have been the character of the world-wide readjustment if the United States had been in the state of sober balance which it occupied during 1927 is no doubt a matter of conjecture. It could hardly have been, however, exactly what it has been. It is even now impossible to guess how much of the trade paralysis in this country, the shrinkage of buying and the consequent fall in earnings of carriers and producers, was reflected the heavy individual losses incurred by the downfall of the nationwide speculation, at the moment that imposed continuing burdens on the people's financial resources.

Given the continuing fall in staple prices, may be partly explained by this lowering away of purchasing power by the greatest consuming country in the world.

Experts for the past are useless, except to their point a lesson for the future. Perhaps, however, there is an element of hope, even in assigning to these enormous and needless losses by the American community a large part of the blame. In so far as they were a cause for present conditions, all the teaching of history is that, in the long run, recovery from such losses comes in America more quickly than elsewhere in the world and the rehabilitation process is more rapid.

Australia and England Place Big Timber Order

VICTORIA, B. C., June 7.—(AP)—British Columbia's lumber industry, backbone of its whole business life, started to swing back toward prosperity on Saturday with the placing of orders for 4,000,000 feet of mining timber by Australia and of 1,500,000 crossties for England.

Surplus.

According to a recent report of the United States Steel corporation, they show a surplus of $791,000,000, of which I understand there is about $185,000,000 cash. Am I correct in assuming that the balance of approximately $600,000,000 is in the form of quick assets, such as securities, etc., or might this balance consist of materials, machinery, buildings, and the like?—W. T. B.

Surplus is an accounting figure used to designate the difference between total assets and total liabilities, including capital stock.

Surplus is therefore not maintained in distinct assets which can be readily allocated, and your assumption that the balance of $600,000,000 is either "quick assets" or "materials, machinery, buildings, etc.," is incorrect.

There are various kinds of surpluses. Profit and loss surplus is designed to show the earnings that are left in the business. Capital surplus usually designates unrealized earnings derived from a source other than normal operations, such as appreciation in property held, etc., and is ordinarily not available for dividends.

Bloomington Limestone.

I own some Bloomington Limestone 6 per cent bonds, due 1942, and I am offered some shares in exchange. Will you please give me your opinion on the bonds?—C. S.

Bloomington Limestone company was incorporated in 1892.

Reflecting the decreased demand for its product in 1930, fixed charges in that year were covered 1.32 times, against 2.62 times in 1929. In 1928 fixed charges were earned 2.79 times.

On Dec. 31, 1930, current assets were $717,967, and current liabilities were $251,134. Cash was $66,953.

The $2,000,000 first mortgage sinking fund 6s, series A, due Dec. 1, 1942, are secured by a first mortgage on the entire property of the company.

They are somewhat speculative. The company passed the preferred dividend payable April 1, 1931.

Assessable Stock.

I would like to know if it is possible for a corporation to put an assessment on stock held by stockholders to help out the business when it is not prospering, or when more money is needed to carry it on.—J. W.

We suggest you read your stock certificate. If it is assessable, the company may levy a certain sum on stockholders.

If the stock is nonassessable and the company is not incorporated under the banking laws, you are not required to pay any additional sum if the stock was fully paid at source.

If the latter case, the company may request contributions of its stockholders, but the stockholder may pay this at his option.

Lauds Power Industry for Resisting Depression

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 7.—No other large industry has resisted the depression as well as the power industry, according to a statement issued by A. W. Robertson, chairman of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, to mark the opening of the National Electric Light association convention in Atlantic City tomorrow. Mr. Robertson said that, with the possible exception of the steam railroads, no other activity has proved so essential to business as the supply of power.

150 Bankers Leave City for Pittsburgh Meeting

Bankers from institutions large and small, in and around Chicago, boarded a special train yesterday at the Union station to attend the 19th annual convention of the American Institute of Banking at Pittsburgh. One hundred and fifty members were in the group. A special effort will be made by the Chicago men to induce the parent organization to hold its 1933 convention here, when the Century of Progress exposition will be a major attraction. About 4,500 bankers from every part of the country would come to the city for the event.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

Cadillac-La Salle shipments for the first five months of 1931 show an increase of 5 per cent over the same period last year. May shipments of 1,777 units brought the 1931 total to 9,572. This compares with 9,052 for the first five months of 1930. There were 2,210 Cadillac-La Salle cars shipped in May last year.

Operating income of 105 telephone in March totaled $24,106,055, an increase of over $22,805,572 in the like month last year. The total for the first quarter was $69,202,739, compared with $67,791,035 for the corresponding quarter of 1930.

Illinois production of crude petroleum increased 6,000 barrels in April as compared to March, the April totale reaching 378,000 barrels, a daily average of 12,000 barrels, as compared to the March production of 372,000 barrels with a daily average of 12,000, says the Illinois Chamber of Commerce in a statement released today. Production for the first four months of 1931 totaled 1,535,000 barrels. April, 1930, production was 460,000 barrels, the Illinois figures for 1931 giving a striking example of the attempt of the oil industry to curb production at this time.
